TEMPERATURES HIGH

Rainstorms Visit Utah And Colorado; Snow Covers Mount Washington.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—(UP)—The midwest was plunged into another searing heat wave today.

Wilted by the unprecedented July temperatures, which broke all records, the section got a few days respite last week, but over the weekend found temperatures skyrocketing to points near the summer highs.

Today the weather bureau said immediate relief was not in sight. A low pressure area is drawing hot air from the southwest, and until it moves on, most of the midwest will swelter in the stagnant hot air.

Whether August will produce heat like that of July, which burned the already forlorn crops to a crisp and took nearly a thousand lives, was uncertain, but the weatherman pointed out that August, not July, usually produces the hottest weather in the midwest, and that good rains seldom fall in that period.

The weather man added suffering for humans and farm stock. Crops already are virtually beyond help, but rains would aid in the production of late forage crops. Cattle and other farm stock probably will jam the markets again. Grain prices spurted on the exchanges.

In Omaha yesterday the temperature was 105.5, but three-tenths under the July high. It caused one death. Emporia, Kan., reported 119 degree and Kansas City 106. It was 104 at Dodge City and 106 at Muncie. Nearly all reporting weather stations were above the 100 mark. At St. Louis, however,

SALES TAX TOTAL SETS NEW RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Receipts from California's 2% per cent sales tax for the second quarter of 1934 amounted to $12,410,846, the largest total for any three months since the levy became effective year ago, the board of equalization reported today.

For the first 11 months of its existence, the tax has returned $45,942,000 for an average of better than $4,000,000 a month, the report said.

Cost of administering the sales tax fell far short of the amount authorized by the legislature, according to the report. Allowed two per cent of collections for administrative purposes, or approximately $830,000, the board has spent about $586,000.

This represents 1.7 per cent chargeable to overhead, of which the chief disbursement was for salaries of an average number of 460 sales tax employees.

ASK REMOVAL OF WADDELL'S NAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Charging a deliberate attempt to confuse voters because of a similarity in names, attorneys for Justice S. Wardell, Democratic candidate for governor, today prepared to petition the state supreme court to prevent the name of James E. Waddell, Oakland, from appearing on the ballot.

Papers requesting a writ of mandate set forth that Waddell filed nomination papers in Alameda county and then withdrew from the race recently. The withdrawal, attorneys for Wardell pointed out, does not remove his name from the ballot.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordon, registrar of voters in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and county clerks of Alameda, San Bernardino and Sacramento were named respondents with Waddell.

LOCAL OPTION QUALIFIES FOR NOVEMBER VOTE

Seven Initiative Proposals To Be Ballotted Upon; Deadline Tomorrow

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Seven initiative proposals had qualified today for the November ballot, and only one more day remained for filing petitions with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The constitutional amendment proposals which have qualified will appear on the general election ballot.

Local option—Proposing that upon an initiative petition the legislative body of a city or county shall submit to qualified electors the question of prohibiting traffic in beverages exceeding one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

Intoxicated Liquors—Providing for the sale of liquors in public eating places and bona-fide clubs.

Civil service—Extending the scope of state civil service.

Selection of judges—Removing judges from political influence, making their positions selective and their tenure subject to the will of the people, or to retirement or removal by law.

Attorney general—Increasing his powers, designating him a chief law officer of the state and giving him direct supervision over every district attorney and sheriff.

Evidence in criminal cases—Permitting judges to comment on the evidence to the jury, in order to assist the jury in arriving at a proper understanding of the case.

Pleading guilty—Permitting a defendant to plead guilty as to his guilt before a committing magistrate, rather than being forced to wait until his case reaches the superior court.

In order to qualify an initiative petition, 110,811 signatures of qualified voters must be obtained.

All petitions must reach the secretary of state by midnight tomorrow. Preliminary petitions already filed but not qualified as yet include proposals to:

"Liberalize the state liquor laws; repeal the criminal syndicalism act; make the state board of education elective and the superintendent of public instruction an appointed member of the board; improve teachers and instructors' tenure; prohibit dismissal of teachers except for cause; abolish the sales tax; adopt a syncretic.

In addition, chiropractic, naturopathic and California Bar association acts have been filed.

CHICAGO TEACHERS WILL GET BACK PAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, came to Chicago today to make preparations for payment of $25,447,240 in back pay to Chicago school teachers.

Accompanying Jones were Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the wartime president. They came from Mackinac Island in the upper Great Lakes by steamer.

The RFC head told Robert C. Keenan, teachers' representative and author of the federal act permitting the loan to Chicago, that he immediately would survey the 129 pieces of property posted as security for the loan.

HOLD BOY, 13, FOR PLAYMATE MURDER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Thirteen-year-old Billy Atares, alleged to have shot and killed Raymond Wylder, 11, because the latter "tattled" about a childless escapade, sat behind the bars of the Sangamon county jail today faced with the possibility of being tried for murder.

In a brief talk similar to ones delivered at Donnelly, Wash., and Grand Coulee, he pointed to the economic value of the development and what it would mean to the west in the form of flood control, soil erosion prevention and the opening up of a vast area to inland navigation.

MOTHER AND SON KILLED

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. Delia Vaughn, 18, and her son, Francis Vaughn, 15, of Eureka, were killed instantly and four other persons were injured in an automobile accident Sunday on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway 16 miles west of Yuba City.

Fan Dancer Is Worried About Operation Scar

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The most embarrassing situation:

A fan dancer with a new appendicitis scar.

Rosalia, over whose unblemished surface waving fans have entertained thousands of world's fair visitors, was recuperating from an operation at Illinois Central hospital today.

Her greatest concern, doctors said, was the scar.

SCORE BANKERS IN SALES OF FOREIGN BONDS

"Scandalous Chapter" In U. S. History Denounced By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Activities of investment bankers in floating foreign securities in the United States form "one of the most scandalous chapters in the history of American investment banking," the Senate stock market committee said today in the second report on its two-year investigation.

The sale of these foreign issues was characterized by practices and abuses which were violative of the most elementary principles of business ethics," the report charged.

The first committee report was issued several weeks ago. Subsequent chapters are to be released from time to time.

The report denounced the lack of protection to investors and the custom of offering new issues to preferred purchasers at prices which guaranteed a profitable turnover without risk.

"The colossal loss sustained by the public on bond issues sponsored by investment bankers manifests that these bankers were either incompetent or derelict in the performance of their duties," the report stated.

"The record of activities in the investment banking field * * were so shocking as to place beyond controversy the urgent need for legislation such as the banking act of 1933 and the securities act of 1933."

The report stated that the public purchased $6,233,000,000 in foreign bonds alone from 1923 to 1930, and that approximately $2-

FEDERAL GRAND JURY ACTION AGAINST "SILVER SHIRTS" IS PLANNED BY CONGRESSMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Four witnesses, one a woman and another believed to be a San Diego mystery witness, connected with Silver Shirt activities in that city, were questioned today by Congressman Charles Kramer as he resumed his secret hearings in preparation for Pacific Coast sessions of a congressional investigation committee.

Declaring publication of some of the aims of his inquiry had handicapped his gathering of evidence, Kramer today shrouded all the going and coming of witnesses in secrecy. All were under strict orders not to divulge their names or the purposes for which they had been called.

What information had been gained from the San Diego witness was not indicated. However, the man said to be a mysterious and wealthy man who recently has made repeated trips to Germany, supposedly to contact Nazi leaders there.

Kramer declared he had sufficient evidence on the Silver Shirts organization in San Diego to warrant an investigation by the federal grand jury.

Messengers Are Held Up By Bold Pair

BULLETIN

Two suspects in the J. C. Penney store holdup Saturday night were arrested today in Los Angeles and were being questioned by local police at noon. Both are ex-convicts from Washington had automatic revolvers in their possession and had a rented car from Saturday afternoon to Sunday morning, according to brief reports from Los Angeles.

BOLDLY holding up two store messengers near the side door of the First National bank on Main street near Fourth while crowds from a nearby theater filled the sidewalks, two bandits escaped with $1900 in currency and $1600 in checks Saturday evening and are being sought over a wide area by Southland police.

The stolen money was being deposited from the J. C. Penney store by Harry Weinberg, assistant manager and Dick Sanders, clerk. They had driven to the bank at Fourth and Main streets and Weinberg was in the act of opening the night depository vault in the bank when he was faced with a gun and robbed by the daring thieves.

Sanders, at the wheel of the car at the curb, immediately jumped from the machine to aid Weinberg, but the bandits quickly fled west down an alley at the rear of the bank, jumped into their waiting car at Sycamore street and became lost in heavy traffic.

The holdup occurred just at 10 o'clock, with theater patrons walking by the bank on the brightly lighted street. As Weinberg reached the bank vault, he told officers, one of two men roughly pushed him into the side doorway of the building and the other covered him with a gun. Grabbing his money bag, they ordered him to run towards Fourth street and not turn around.

Sanders saw the men jump into their car on Sycamore street and he believed a third man was driving, since they drove away and turned west on Fourth street without turning around.

The man with the revolver was described by Weinberg and Sanders as being 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing 145 pounds and wearing brown pants and a dark coat. The other man was costumed, was wearing a white shirt, grey pants and was 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighed about 135 pounds. Both men appeared to be about 22 years of age.

The mystery car in which they made their escape was believed to be a Chevrolet, about a 1929 or 1930 model, and of a dark or black color, according to Sanders.

Police ran down several false clues Saturday night and Sunday, from stories told by bystanders. Two youths were questioned in Garden Grove who talked closely to the descriptions of the hunted men, but were freed when Sanders could not get their horses near the watering places.

STOCKYARDS WORKMEN BACK ON JOB TODAY

Stock Handlers Gain "Moral Victory" In Walkout As Operations Resumed

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Four thousand head of cattle, sheep and hogs flowed into Chicago from farms today as the union stockyards resumed normal operations after a 13-day strike ended in defeat.

With a "moral victory" won, 1,200 stock handlers returned to work to await arbitration of grievances by Federal District Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Credit for ending the strike went largely to Gen. Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator. Here to speak at the world fair, Johnson was drafted as a conciliator by the government mediators who had struggled unsuccessfully for a week to bring stockyards officials and union leaders to common ground.

Handlers employed by the stockyards company struck July 24, with the complaint that the company had not abided by an agreement which ended a strike last November. Back wages were overdue, they said, and working conditions were unsatisfactory.

Johnson called Judge Sullivan into the dispute because it was he who arranged the November settlement. Sullivan agreed to arbitrate the present dispute on the basis of his former award. The union previously had refused to accept his intervention.

Commission house employees, who struck Friday in sympathy with the stockyards employees, returned to work automatically with their affiliated A. F. of L. local.

The holdup occurred just at 10 o'clock, with theater patrons walking by the bank on the brightly lighted street. As Weinberg reached the bank vault, he told officers, one of two men roughly pushed him into the side doorway of the building and the other covered him with a gun. Grabbing his money bag, they ordered him to run towards Fourth street and not turn around.

Sanders saw the men jump into their car on Sycamore street and he believed a third man was driving, since they drove away and turned west on Fourth street without turning around.

A community of 516,000 persons was left with transportation facilities for only the barest necessities.

Grocers were able to obtain only bread, milk and ice. Farmers were permitted to deliver vegetables and fruits directly to consumers.

LABOR OFFICERS START SESSION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Headed by William Grimes, members of the executive committee were gathering here for a session of the American Federation of Labor which was expected to last ten days or two weeks.

The committee will consider recent developments on the labor front and their findings may have a decided influence on the future of trades unions as they have developed over the past few years.

It was assumed that among the leading issues to be considered are Hudson-Essex employees' withdrawal from NRA guidance, and a study of the famous 7-A section of the Recovery Act upon unions.

MACON TO START SOUTH TOMORROW

SUNNYVALE, Cal., Aug. 6.—(UP)—The crew of the U. S. dirigible Macon prepared the big airship today for a training cruise to San Diego, scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

According to plans announced by Commander A. V. Wiley, the Macon will tie up at Camp Kearny near San Diego overnight, returning to its base here Wednesday.

The airship will make another cruise during the week but the destination was not announced.

Classification to replies received at the League of Nations showed 26 nations had agreed to prohibit exports of arms to Bolivia and Paraguay, and that all the ten nations which had not replied have indicated willingness to participate.

NEW HEAT WAVE SEARS MIDWEST, PRICES SOAR

the temperature was in the low 90's.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Eager traders turned the pits of the Chicago Board of Trade into turmoil today as grain prices zoomed upward to new seasonal highs.

A new heat wave in the southwest and strength in the stock market sent again prices soaring on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Trading was at a furious pace as wheat advanced two cents at the opening. The May delivery sold for $1.10.

A new heat wave, moving upon the middle and the southwest had an immediate effect on prices.

The price of wheat, which shot upward two cents at the opening, continued unchecked amid wild scenes in the pits. During the morning the price rose to $1.07 1/8 to $1.12, for the various deliveries up from two and three-fourths to three and one-eighth cents.

Corn, badly ravaged by the drought, sold at 74, 77 and 81 1/2 cents, showing a gain of from 2 1/2 to 5 1/8 cents.

Gates were up a cent and new rice from 8 5/8 to 8 7/8 cents.

Crop reports estimated that corn, which thousands of farmers had looked to as a means of salvaging some of their crop losses, was deteriorating at the rate of 15 million bushels a day.

So furious was the pace of trading that the huge blackboards bordering the pits were far behind the prices bid in the pits.

Extra help was called in by traders to handle the buying and selling orders as the market continued at its dizzy pace.

So rapid were the changes in prices that they could not be telephoned to the blackboard before new quotations nullified them.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Rainstorms of almost cloudburst proportions last night lashed Utah.

Highways were blocked by mud whirled from mountain canyons.

Three towns were plunged into darkness as the storm tore down electric wires. Six persons narrowly escaped death as their car was capsized by a four-foot wall of water.

The storm centered in Brigham canyon. There water roared four feet deep, carrying boulders and mud that barricaded the highway when the first fury of the storm subsided.

Rain continued steadily more than two hours after the storm's first violent attack.

Precipitation at Salt Lake City was slightly more than .31 inch.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Prominent stage-players in the cast of "Othello," Shakespearean drama, which concluded its final production at Central City's famous opera house Saturday night, and prominent members of Denver society, were caught yesterday in a cloudburst that flooded the mountain district.

The actors and others in their group were en route down Golden Gate canon when the cloudburst halted them. A bridge had washed away which necessitated their wading through knee-deep water, when the heavy rain subsided, to automobiles on the other side of the gulch.

Those included in the group were Walter Huston and his wife, Nan Sutherland, leading man and woman in "Othello." Robert Edmund Jones, widely known in dramatic circles and director of the production at Central City, also

11 HURT AS DUD SHELL EXPLODES

FORT RILEY, Kan., Aug. 6.—(UP)—A "dud" 105 millimeter gas shell exploded in tent here yesterday and 11 persons, including three women, were wounded.

The shell had been picked up on the firing range and carried to a tent at Camp Whitefield, home of the National Guard encampment here, where the women, another civilian visitor, and a group of guardsmen, in camp for the first time, were examining it.

Albert Strokey, of Gridley, warned the soldiers against handling the shell. He said it was against rules and dangerous. Lee Hess of Burlington, who had the shell, started to place it on the floor. As he stooped the shell slipped, hit the floor and exploded. Fragments were found 200 yards away.

The committee criticized the custom of stabilizing the price of new issues during the flotation. It was shown that after this artificial support was removed prices slumped.

Howard Pidgeon, Wilmington, O., pilot, and his passenger, Charles Sherrard, Gladewater, were injured Sunday at Gladewater, Tex., when the airplane in which they were riding crashed from an altitude of 80 feet after the take-off.

In the seventh plane accident, Pilot M. H. Buckley, Rolla, Mo., and David Love, escaped injury when their airplane nosed over after making a forced landing near Eureka, Mo.

Norman Zunker, 88-year-old veteran and amateur pilot, and Robert Courtney, 20, died in a Hartford, Wis., hospital of injuries received when their home-made plane crashed into a rock-pile before 2500 horrified spectators.

The pair was stuntin the little monoplane to thrill a crowd of picnickers at a park where three conventions were holding outtings.

Arthur Weber, 36, Unity, O., was killed when his airplane crashed in a cornfield near Columbian, after a wing broke as he attempted to bring his ship out of a power dive.

TIFFIN, O., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Milo Burcham, 31, Los Angeles pilot, narrowly escaped death here today when the propeller dropped off his biplane at 1000 feet. The plane landed in a cow pasture at the edge of the city, barely missing high tension wires and trees.

Burcham escaped injury. The plane was undamaged. The sudden cutting off of the motor was believed to have loosened the propeller, which buried itself in the ground, close to a house.

Burcham, holder of the world's inverted flying record of four hours and five minutes, was enroute from Muncie, Ind., to Cleveland.

consumers, but housewives were without laundry or cleaning service and were unable to purchase many table luxuries.

The most significant section of Olson's drastic order was a clause permitting immediate resumption of service by any truck owner who would sign the so-called Haas-Dunnigan plan for a strike settlement.

The plan was proposed last week by the Rev. Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal mediators. The union accepted it but employers submitted a counter proposal different in several details.

The employers' advisory council, representing 186 firms, expressed bitter resentment of the order as a dictatorial club to force their submission to union terms.

A few hours after Olson signed the order, union leaders jubilantly announced that two employers had signed contracts. Father Haas said other employers indicated they would yield today to the governor's pressure.

"This order will expose the chiselers who have prevented a settlement of this strike," said Olson.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. Stella Tanich, 30, charged with the torch murder of her two-year-old son Vincent, today was held responsible for the act by a coroner's jury.

The woman, against whom police lodged a formal murder charge, readily admitted soaking her baby's clothing with kerosene, then applying a match. She had soaked her own clothing, intending, she told police, to take her own life.

"Baby Vincent smiled when he burned," she said in her hospital cell room today. "Then I sorry I kill him. I call police."

Police summoned by her telephone call, took the baby to a hospital where he died.

PRESENT SOCIAL SYSTEM IS CALLED "HAYWIRE" BY YOUNG SPEAKERS AT UNION SERVICE

The present day social system, as youth sees it, is "haywire," and the youth of today constitute a "surplus generation" in the words of two young speakers who addressed the union church service Sunday evening in Evangelical church.

Charles Warner and Robert L. Neudeck, the speakers, discussing "The Message of Jesus About Social Questions," declared the Rev. Albert Eskin Kelly of the United Presbyterian church in his pulpit yesterday morning. His theme was "Let's Have a Backward Movement" and the scripture studied, Jeremiah 6:16. "Thus saith the Lord, stand ye in the ways and see and ask for the old paths where is the good way and walk therein and ye shall find rest for your souls."

"In these days of forward movements within the church and without (and who of us is reactionary enough not to desire the 'forward march' in individual life, church and nation, in matters spiritual and otherwise?) there needs to be a backward movement that will bring us back to the ways of our fathers," said Warner, beginning his sermon.

"As youth looks at society today it wonders why certain of these principles are not already in operation. They see the Christian nations of the world armed to the teeth as they look at this great mass of death dealing instruments which are built with the purpose of killing their friends in other lands. They wonder if it wouldn't be better to try good will rather than force. If we used good will throughout the world, we would have the constant fear of war being hammered into our head by munition makers and self-interested politicians, and we would never again have to witness a battlefield of dead men with their inters blown out over the ground. Neither would the people at home have to witness their minds filled full of dirty stories about how the children of Belgium were getting their hands and ears cut off."

"No, we would have a world family. Yes, if we used good will we would not have to build such battlefields as the California, but we could build ten miles of schools like the Julia Lathrop, which would educate and thereby cause construction, not destruction. The money spent in war time machines could be used to feed the hungry and educate the poor."

"Yes, if we had practiced that principle of good will we would not have to look for old blood to run the world, and we would not have to have undoubtedly the most wealth in the world of this country."

"When wealth becomes so concentrated men have no use for the money they control only as they apply it to their own selfish ends. This fact is demonstrated in the recent expose of the munition manufacturers, the senate investigations of our banking institutions, the fact that one of our great western public utilities paid $28,000 last year to lobby against rate reductions and charged it to operating expense, as well as to the set-back that has come to all moral reform such as the repeal of the 18th amendment."

"The only for good times to come back and for business to become normal is through some system to put buying power into the hands of all our citizenship."

"To enter upon such a program as this would not only be good business but good religion."

"To follow Christ means to go with Him down all the paths of life, into the relationships of life for Christianity is all of life. If Christianity is to take in all of life it must value every human personality whether black, white or yellow. It must stop using force and practice good will, as Jesus did. And last, but not least, it must see that everyone is so protected that he can live a life for Jesus said, 'what profiteth a man to gain the whole world and lose his own life.'

"As you see it this is part of the challenge which is confronting the church today."

Chingan also struck at the social and economic evils of the day, and gave his idea of the solution. "We who have been asked to bring the message this evening believe that in Jesus Christ and in that for which he stands, lies the solution for problems of our present society," he said.

"Today men are being confronted with problems that try their souls and frustrate their dearest ambitions. Youth graduates from school only to find few places open to him for he is a member of a surplus generation. There are many who do not have the contentment and security of a home; they are sure they can still call their own the day after tomorrow."

"Our industrial districts are being torn by strikes that are costly to the employers, bringing suffering to the families of the strikers, and engendering hatreds it will take years to obliterate."

"You and tonight can hear the war drums beating in Europe where soldiers are being massed at every frontier, munitions are being manufactured in feverish haste, while men in every country are preparing for either the next revolution or the next war."

"Christ was born into a world that yearned for the coming of the kingdom of God, a reign of righteousness, justice and mercy that was to be ushered in with the arrival of a Messiah. But there were many other ways of salvation than the cross."

"What can wash away my sin? Nothing but the blood of Jesus."

"John Bunyan was right. Pilgrim carried the burden of his sins until he came in sight of the cross. Only the cross satisfies the reason. Only the cross is vindicated in human experience. Let us go back to the cross and stay there."

"That was the message of the ancient prophets. In time of famine and drought and injustice and crime and oppression of the laborer and the poor; in a day of self dependence and disaster present or impending the prophet was urging 'Return unto the Lord, and He will heal and help and restore. Repent and trust Him and all will be well.'

"Colonel Lawrence of Arabia has told of a conversation with some Arabs on the subject of astronomy and how it ended. A wise old Sheikh after hearing the western scholar recount the wonders revealed by the telescope said, 'You foreigners see a million stars and nothing beyond. We Arabs see only a few stars, and God.'

"A writer in the Expositor has given this title to an article, 'As If There Were a God.' Is it not high time that our government govern as if there were a God? is that not how a church should be conducted, and the individual life lived? 'Back to God'—the claimant need of this hour is written in that phase."

Christian Science

A lesson-sermon on "Love" was delivered yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ Scientist.

One of the Bible selections included these citations from Matthew: And Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy: Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth. And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house.

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: Divine truth. Life, and love gave

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

The first thing Hitler did after Von Hindenburg died was to make the army swear obedience to him. Our officials exchanged knowing glances when they read that.

It has been an open secret in diplomatic circles for a long time that a strong crowd of army generals was and still is secretly opposed to Hitler. These generals worshipped Von Hindenburg, who kept them in the Nazi line. Many of them were associates and friends of General Von Schleicher, who now lies murdered by Nazi bullets.

It is easy to suspect they had some mental reservations when Hitler extracted the personal oath from them.

REVOLUTION

These generals are the only hope of the Hitler opposition. Hitler could have been legally removed by Von Hindenburg, but now there is no one to remove him. The only way he can be trapped is by revolt, and the only ones who could conduct a first class revolution against him are the generals and their army.

The elections are, of course, farces. You can imagine how many Hitler opponents will dare to risk their necks by going to the polls. Also, the vote-counting is done by the Nazis.

How long it will take the army to get a revolution started is a matter for conjecture. Hitler's power is beginning to wane. Continuous economic hardships of the people, the loss of democratic prestige by his bloody murder purge and foreign isolation of Germany are weakening his popularity. Yet there is no question here but that he still maintains a strong hold on a large mass of people.

Our officials privately believe he will continue to hold on until conditions become worse or a new leader arises.

WARNING

The AAA is about to crack down on a few outstanding violators of the AAA marketing agreements. They expect to do it by legal action and not by words, as other crackers-down have done.

Some actions already are in the process of preparations. Before the end of the summer it is proposed to hale certain large companies into the courts.

The AAAs appear to have no fear about the legality of their program or its constitutionality, else they would avoid the courts.

DODGING

The way the NRA has been dodging court tests is a subject of snickering comment wherever lawyers gather. The Greif case in Baltimore brought that out not long ago. The judge became angry because government lawyers argued technical questions of jurisdiction to keep the case from going to trial.

That is probably smart strategy. In that case, the judge restrained local NRA authorities from further steps against the manufacturer, but that did not stop NRA officials in Washington. They immediately forbade the code authority to sell any more Blue Eagle labels to the company.

The company thumbed its nose by saying it had enough labels to last through September. There you go!

Whether these labels are valid has not been decided. But buyers will probably prefer to trade with firms whose Blue Eagles have unsullied reputations. That is where the NRA has a double toe-hold on a violator without regard for the courts.

It is not only illegal to sell a garment without an NRA label, but also a violation of the retail code to buy an unlabeled garment.

DIPLOMACY

The marketing agreement for the big tobacco companies recently went up in a cloud of cigar smoke. The companies and the AAA could not even smoke together peacefully around the same table.

Thereby hangs a tale concerning Mr. Roosevelt's diplomacy in effecting last year's tobacco agreement. It has only recently come to light.

The tobacco boys finally drew up an agreement at that time after stormy sessions with AAA officials. There was only one wrinkle in it to be smoothed out. Agriculture Secretary Wallace insisted the agreement include a statement that "nothing in this can be construed to deprive the secretary of agriculture of any of his powers under the agricultural adjustment act." The tobacco boys would not agree to that.

When the agreement went to the White House, they went with it. They demanded that the President take the clause out of the agreement before he signed it.

Mr. Roosevelt picked up his pen. With a twinkle in his eye, he scratched out the Wallace clause. Tobaccoists were delighted. Then the president signed the agreement as follows:

"Approved, Franklin D. Roosevelt, with the understanding, of course, that as a matter of law, nothing in this agreement can deprive the secretary of agriculture of any of his powers under the agricultural adjustment act."

NEW YORK

By James McMullan

New York still hopes that business will go places and do things this fall. But the informed are not cherishing dream castles of a spectacular climb to prosperity. They see new boulders blocking the path that won't be easy to get over.

A careful checkup has pretty well dispelled the drought bogey but another and more solid obstacle has replaced it in financial calculations. That's the loss of purchasing power due to strikes. Experts estimate the shrinkage to shutdowns at $350,000,000 so far in 1934. This sum represents direct loss only. Several times that sum is tied up indirectly because fear of further labor troubles has frozen business spending. And when business doesn't buy individual pocketbooks suffer also.

Conservatives call section 7a the villain of the piece. Analysis by a New York figure sharp shows 71 per cent of this year's strikes originated in disputes about what it means. 22 per cent were straight wage arguments and 7 per cent came from miscellaneous causes. Wall street claims that's a high price to pay for a benefit that even labor finds ambiguous.

There's no evidence yet that the end is in sight. Most New York authorities privately believe that the strike epidemic has just begun—and their Washington scouts report that the Labor Department has the same opinion. They insist that FDR must find a definite answer quick to the 7a riddle or NRA will destroy more purchasing power than it has created.

MARTYRS

You'd be surprised how many financial insiders are more disturbed by the anti-red campaign than they were by the "red menace." They fear that vigilante zeal and the determination of many industrialists to purge their factories of "communist influence" are found to victimize a number of legitimate labor leaders with a resultant backlash that might be very costly to the conservative cause.

The best posted New Yorkers aren't seeing red at all. They realize there are communists in labor ranks. But they are convinced this element is negligible and will remain so—unless business leaders themselves raise red recruits by making martyrs.

PROVOCATIVE

The New York City administration's measures to combat radicalism draw caustic fire from high conservative sources. First the city suggested that legitimate labor heads be registered and finger-printed by the police. The theory was that this would protect them from police molestation in case of trouble—with the further inference that any striker without police credentials might just as well expect to meet up with a nightstick.

That didn't go so well with the unions. The idea was officially abandoned but it left a bitter taste in labor mouths which won't help any if there are flare-ups.

Then Police Commissioner O'Ryan created a special Rifle Regiment to replace the old Riot Squad and is giving the group intensive military training. Keen observers call it "provocative preparedness." If the object was to awe potential demonstrators they believe it will work in reverse.

A leading banker remarks: "If O'Ryan wants to stir up 'civil commotion' he has certainly picked the right way to do it."

FOSTERED

The New York grapevine intimates that Federation of Labor officials are none too cordial toward the Recovery Administration.

The story runs that conservative labor leaders feel NRA has definitely fostered the growth of radical unions—however unintentionally—with its principle of proportional minority representation in collective bargaining. Company unions aren't the only ones to thrive on that diet.

Conversely radical labor groups as well as company-sponsored organizations will suffer from malnutrition if the new National Labor Board can and will enforce the principle of majority rule in capital-labor relations.

POLITICS

Rumors are thick in Wall street that Governor Lehman is about to withdraw his candidacy for re-election. The idea is that his firm wants him back and that such a move would clear the track for Jim Farley's gubernatorial aspirations. It's also reported that Lehman is fed up with backstage sniping from within his own party.

The wise take the story with salt.

They point out that it looks remarkably like the old build-up for "the office seeks the man"—which would greatly strengthen Lehman's candidacy if it gets across. They add that if Farley is aiming for the White House in 1940 his political sense must tell him he'd better wait for the governorship until '36.

CONTESTS

There's no rest for the weary. Jim Farley—having achieved a triumph in Dooling's choice as Tammany boss—is now faced by a revolt in the ranks of the erstwhile Recovery Party. There were two kinds of Recoveryites—professional politicians like Flynn of the Bronx and Democrats who thought the Recovery movement offered the best chance of purging the New York City Democracy of bosses. The former are pleased by the Dooling deal—the latter are disillusioned and inclined to be bitter. They're saying it with primary contests and some of them will make it tough for the regulars.

SIDE LIGHTS

U. S. Steel's proud second quarter record of getting back to the black isn't as cheering as it sounds... It was largely due to advance orders usually placed in the third quarter but moved up because of strike and price worries—which won't help the third quarter any... Sears Roebuck may resume its dividend before the end of the year... Savings banks in the states have over 131.2 million depositors—an all-time high.

WEDDING

Against a background of greenery and pom-pom dahlias with light provided by tall tapers set in candelabras, the impressive single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Stanley Roberts.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, J. D. Zinke, in Glendale as the setting, Miss Anna Stolpe, 405 South Main street, daughter of Mrs. E. Stolpe, of Glendale, was married to Roland Rockhart, of Santa Ana, Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the presence of a group of close friends and relatives.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the Zinke home. Table appointments were particularly lovely, stressing a bridal motif, with an elaborately decorated wedding cake centering the table.

Guests at the wedding supper other than the bride and bridegroom were Mrs. E. Stolpe, the Rev. Mr. Roberts, Miss Zelda Zieter, Miss Jeanne Grandy, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bement, Hugh Beament, and J. D. Zinke and Joe Zinke.

Following the supper, the young couple left for a short honeymoon, after which they will make their home at 405 South Main street, Orange.

The new Mrs. Rockhart, a graduate of the Alva Union High school of Oklahoma, where she was president of the school student body in 1924. Besides taking an active role in the school's activities, she was voted the most popular student. She is a graduate of the Oklahoma university school of nurses and a member of the Guild of St. Barnabas, an international organization for nurses.

For the past few months she has been a member of the nursing staff of St. Joseph's hospital.

Mr. Rockhart, who has lived in Santa Ana for more than 10 years, is connected with the sales department of the B. J. MacMullen automobile agency in Santa Ana.

Unless Fred Perry turns professional, the Davis Cup is quite likely to remain in England long enough to round out a ten-year stay on the other side.

A seventh American expedition sailed, with Sidney B. Wood and Frank Shields unable to score in even one singles scrap.

And when the time comes for the British to pass the trophy along, Germany, and not the United States, may be the recipient.

Indeed, the Teutons, who have made rapid strides in tennis, might have been the challengers this year had not Nazi trouble cost them the services of Daniel Frenn, almost as good as the 24-year-old Baron Gottfried von Cramm, whom William T. Tilden rates next to Perry among the amateurs.

In taking two sets before wrenching his side, Wood demonstrated that he had it in him to repeat Perry. Will he better break in the luck, the once precocious darling of the Seabright courts, may click in 1935, but the other singles player must be developed. He may eventually be found among Gene Mako of Los Angeles, the inter-collegiate champion; E. Ramey Donovan, a contribution from Fordham; or Frankie Parker, the 18-year-old Lawrenceville student.

HOW ABOUT GRANT?

Shields and Lester Stoefen are too hopelessly handicapped. They can't beat Perrys and "Bunny" Austin on sheer fight alone.

While I dislike to second guess anybody, we Bryan Grant probably would have been a better selection than Shields.

It might be well for the American Davis Cup committee to take into consideration how a player's game fits that of the British stars. For example, Shields likely would blast Grant off the court in an elimination, yet the Atlanta player's game is much more adapted to that of Austin, the stylist, than that of the towering chap who carried the Yankee standards.

Since the European learned the art of taking a terrific service, their conquerors had had to have flawless command of the ball. Shields can't beat their best with wild rushes to the net. Shields is mechanical—stilted and cramped. He is a one or two stroke player, with a weak backhand and faulty ground strokes.

PERRY QUIT CLOWNING

Grant, on the other hand, has an all-court game. Against Austin, the man the Americans stood the best chance of defeating, "Bitty" could have been relied upon to stick in there and get the ball back. And that is what it takes to trim Austin, who is none too strong and who fades as a stiff battle rolls on. Shields defeated him by carrying him to a fifth set in the Wimbledion tournament.

His victories over Jack Crawford plainly gave Perry the impetus required to make him the world's foremost amateur. At the outset this kangaroo-like athlete was a bit of a buffoon. For some time before he struck his true stride, it was said that he practically would be invincible if he would get his mind on his game. He seemed to suffer from an inferiority complex.

I doubt that Perry could turn back Tilden, Johnston, Cochet or LaCoste at their peak.

But Great Britain and amateur tennis need not apologize for their top-ranking player. He has remarkable speed, a fine variety of strokes, and is capable in every square inch of the court.

DID YOU KNOW THAT?

"Mickey" Cochrane is the boss of the Detroit Tigers...but even though he is, he doesn't think he's five strokes up in the medal score over an 18-hole route.

SANTA ANITA WINS, LOSES WITH GIANTS

Going 11 innings to cop the first game, Santa Anita split a double-header with the Los Angeles Colored Giants here Sunday afternoon. The Giants, defeated in the extra-inning curtain-raiser, 4-2, came back in the afterpiece to slaughter the Westside nine, 15-4.

Villa's double and Benny's single broke up the first contest, a brilliant pitcher's battle between Al Echinas of Santa Anita and the Mathews-Young combination of the Giants. Santa Anita got off to a two-run lead in the first, gave up the lead in the eighth only to tie it in its half on Koral's double and Villa's single.

The second game, however, was decided in early innings. The Giants found Shepherd easy, rolling up five runs in the first inning, three more in the second.

NEW REPORTS SAY BABE RUTH TO HEAD TRIBE

Dempsey Tot Name To Be Joan Hannah

By STUART CAMERON
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Putting the sports shot here and there:

Despite Walter Johnson's reappointment as manager of the Cleveland Indians, reports persist that the Tribe will be managed next season by Babe Ruth.

Henry McLeodore, grand marshal of the sport parade, is on the Atlantic with Mrs. Mac.... Hank is home this week after three months of European sports reporting... and he resumes his column by Monday, for sure.

Max Baer's vaudeville engagement grounded out in Chicago Saturday.... lack of box office nourishment....

The reasoning of baseball players is difficult to fathom.... "Hungry Lou" Gehrig told our own Jack Cuddy that he cared nothing for records... an hour later he hit a brace of homers and proved that he is now definitely threatening Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60 for one season.... and only a few weeks back the Gehrig left a hospital cot, against doctor's orders, to take a turn at bat so he could preserve his consecutive-game record...

You'll be reading lots about T. O. M. Sopwith during the next two months... you'd see lots about him anyway, on account of his challenge with Endeavour for the America's Cup, but the ship's newsboys who met him on the AQUITANIA at quarantine, rated him tops of all invading sportsmen of the year.... Mrs. Sopwith, who is to be a member in Endeavour's crew as time-keeper, confesses that in addition to being "terribly excited" over the prospect she is also a bit nervous... she'll be the first woman member of an America's Cup boat crew...

A story of abiding interest to track and field athletes, to say nothing of A. A. U. badge-wearers, is due out of Berlin by the end of the month.... Avery Brundage is in Germany to make a final report as to the Nazi attitude towards Jewish athletes.... his report probably will be the "yes" or "no" on the United States participation in the 1936 Olympic Games.... Nazis or no Nazis, Joe Jacobs is going to Hamburg to handle Max Schmeling.... in the forthcoming Walter Neusel bout....

It is said along Broadway that "Sleepy" McGowan picked up just under $5000 because it's little Miss Dempsey instead of Master Dempsey.

Terry Griffith of Olive, a shortstop playing the finest ball of his career, and "Hen" Thirley, freckled Huntington Beach second sacker, were tied for third with .404. Fred Wiseman, fleet Anaheim fly-chaser, had the fifth spot with an even .400. Wiseman rates as one of the league's best freshmen.

Santa Ana's No. 1 batsman was Tom Denney, with .361. Catcher "Eeny" Wilcox, .354, was in second place, followed by Joe Koral with .338 and Tommy Young with .311. Young's climb was one of the club's third-quarter highlights. Shortstop Francis Conrad, also made a substantial improvement.

Six Arrested By Newport Officers On Drunk Charges

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Six were arrested by Newport Beach police over the weekend and charged with drunkenness, one being charged with drunken driving. Two Santa Ana youths, 19 and 18 years, were among those arrested, and were released on $20 bail.

A. M. Belue, 31, 1628 Surf, Balboa, was arrested early Sunday morning and charged with drunken driving. He was released to Chief of Police Hodgkinson. Kenneth Harring, 21, Los Angeles; Dick Randolph, 19, Los Angeles, and George Hall, 29, Long Beach, were charged with being drunk late Saturday night, and posted $20 bail each.

BEACH SINGERS AT COSTA MESA CHURCH

COSTA MESA, Aug. 6.—A male quartet from the choir of the First Baptist church of Huntington Beach, Stuart Price, Joseph Perry, James Ranney and Robert Hoisington, was featured on the evening program at the local Four-square church. The opening number was "On the King's Highway," followed by "The River of Life" and "Only Jesus." Mrs. Ranney accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Ranney also sang as a solo "Abide With Me," accompanied by Mrs. G. Smalley.

Other musical numbers on the program were a song by the girls' sextette of the church, Helen Bradbury, Vera Jean Bradley, Thelma Kesch, Yvonne Bullock, June Gray and Tessie Anderson. The Spelling Song." They were accompanied by Mrs. Smalley. G. Smalley and O. Tyner gave several guitar and harmonica duet selections, and the church choir sang "Hear the Tramp, Tramp, Tramping of the Army."

Miss Thelma Bradbury, pastor, spoke on the theme, "The Known Soldier." Miss Bradbury announced that the Angelus Temple choir from Los Angeles will appear in a musical program here next Friday evening. She also announced that the sermon topic at the organ, Mr. Plas gave several violin selections and Mr. Blust sang.

Mrs. Thompson opened the program with "Gloria" from the first Mass in B Flat, by Haydn, and followed with "A Cradle Song," after prayer had been offered by the Rev. W. J. Lowe.

Numbers given by Mr. Plas were "Preludio," by Corelli; "The Voice of Spring," by Anna Priscilla Risher; and "Air," from Suite in D Major by Bach, arranged by Wilhelm Blust.

Mr. Blust sang, "I've Done My Work," by Carrie Jacobs Bond; "A Page's Road Song," by Ivor Novello; and "Memories." Mrs. Thompson acted as accompanist.

Mrs. Thompson also rendered "Pilgrim's Chorus," from Wagner's Opera "Tannhauser"; "Sundown," arranged by Ellen Jane Lorenz, and closed with a hymn arrangement.

REPORTS PRESENTED AS COUNCIL MEETS

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 6.—Monthly reports from the various departments were read at the regular city council meeting Friday night. Councilman David McKinney reported receipt of a donation for providing highway signs to draw attention to the beach, fishing facilities and pier. These are being made by City Engineer Ayer and will be placed at conspicuous points on the highway when completed.

The crowds on the beach and fishing boats and pier have been larger this year than ever before, it was reported. The golf course is in excellent condition and $213.50 was reported for July. Five miles of streets were cleaned and graded during the past month. City Engineer Ayer asked the council to decide on the use of the $300 gas tax money received from the state. State restriction requires this money be used on the curbs of the highway. It was decided to put a curb along the front of the state park, the park frontage extending 1700 feet. Ayer was instructed to go ahead with the project, using local labor.

After dinner tables were arranged for bridge. First prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Fulson, while consolation went to Mrs. Alice T. Smith and L. W. Schauer.

DANZ HONORED AT RECEPTION BY L. B. ARTISTS

L. A. MAN ELECTED PASTOR OF BREA CHRISTIAN CHURCH

BREA, Aug. 6.—Members of the Christian church, following the services on Sunday morning, when the Rev. Frank L. Stipp preached, voted to accept that minister's application to become pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Stipp has done extensive work as a missionary, having spent 10 years in the Philippines Islands in that capacity. For the past several years he has been located in Los Angeles, where he has been doing special missionary work with the Filipinos.

The new pastor will begin his duties at once, and expects to have his family settled in the parsonage within the next 10 days. His family consists of his wife, a son, 13, and a daughter, 15. The pastorate has been vacant since June 15, when the Rev. J. Wesley Layman resigned to take up special evangelical work in Nevada.

HONOR COUPLE MOVE AGAINST WAR CITED BY BREA PASTOR

BREA, Aug. 6.—Taking for his topic "We Move in New Directions" and for his text a part of the Lord's prayer, "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, in earth as it is in heaven," the Rev. Donald Gaylord, in his Sunday morning sermon at the Congregational church, depicted ways in which the church can further the bringing in of God's kingdom on earth.

The Rev. Mr. Gaylord related the action taken recently by the general council of Congregational-Christians churches in convention at Oberlin, O., in creating a council for social action, he declared, is expected to make interesting history in the churches.

This council, the pastor said, although the Buddhist faith originated in India, it has reached its fullest development in Japan. The followers of the faith in the latter country, he said, have accepted the teachings as laid down in Chinese scriptures—translations from Sanskrit and Pali writings, held by scholars to be the most authentic source.

Sanzaki went on to explain that

As the guests assembled at the church they were ushered to their seats by Monteal Hippolite, Dora Ashlock, Winona Zumwalt, Twila Collins, Velta Colley and Violet McCallum.

The honored guests entered the church with their bridal party and stood in front of the altar, where they were congratulated by the guests present. In the bridal party were Lottie Mae Jordan, the Rev. T. C. Jordan, Mary Ruth Jordan and Mrs. Thomas Foster and daughter, Carolyn, and the honoree.

A musical program was provided

Utopian Society To Meet Tonight In Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—Attracting much attention and causing considerable comment throughout the community today was a big poster, located near the post office on Laguna avenue announcing a mass meeting of the Utopian society here, to be held this evening at the Little Arts theater on Thalia street. According to the announcement, the meeting is limited to members having attended one or more meetings. It was also added that important information would be given out.

HOLD HEARING ON BUENA PARK BUDGET

BUENA PARK, Aug. 6.—With the president, J. B. Sullivan, in charge the hearing on the Buena Park elementary school budget was held Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Grand Avenue school.

Figures for the 1934-35 expenditures as originally presented by the trustees were retained as suggested, including $22,155 for teachers' salaries and $4,000 capital outlay, with a total expenditure of $27,235. The item for capital outlay included provision for the payment of interest on funds obtained under the state Greene bill to be used for reconstruction work on the Lindbergh school.

Harry S. Horn and Walter McKenzie are the other remaining members of the board.

Shower Held In La Habra Home

LA HABRA, Aug. 6.—A kitchen and spice shower was given Friday evening by Miss Margaret Thornton at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Thornton, East Whittier boulevard, complimenting Mrs. James Fred Jordan. The home was attractively decorated in summer blooms in pastel shades, which were effectively carried out in the appointments on the refreshment table.

Gifts were presented to the recent bride in a large clothes basket. Games entertained during the evening and prizes were won by Twila Collins and Fern Whittemberg. Mrs. Paul M. Thornton assisted the hostess in serving refreshments at which time the bride's cake was cut by the honoree.

Those attending were Gay and Velta Colley, Ruby, Minnie and Lois Perkins, Twila Collins, Irene Robinson, Monteal Hippolite, Jessie Dora and Elsie Ashlock, Claudia Zumwalt, Fern Whittemberg, Lottie Mae Jordan, Violet McCamillen, Mrs. J. W. Meier, Mrs

DEFENDANTS IN GAMBLING CASE WIN FREEDOM

Deliberating only 30 minutes, a jury in the Seal Beach justice court returned no guilty verdicts Saturday on gambling and lottery charges filed against 18 persons arrested by sheriff's officers in Ballard's Chip Parlor in Seal Beach.

The trial lasted two days and was marked by the challenging of 18 prospective jurors by the attorneys and the necessity of securing a special jury panel.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner and deputy sheriffs contended that the chip game was a game of chance, constituted gambling, and that the chips could be exchanged for cash.

The defendants, through Defense Attorneys Z. R. West Jr. and Sam Lackman, claimed that the game was for amusement only, was not gambling, and the chips were of no value.

The trial was the first of three scheduled for Ballard's Chip Parlor. The 18 men tried Saturday were arrested on the first raid by sheriff's officers. Another group was arrested the next day and seven more the next day, but the third raid was on felony charges of conspiracy to evade the gambling laws. The preliminary hearing on this charge is set for August 21 in the Santa Ana Justice court.

The jury hearing the case Saturday included Lila V. Dornberg, Adam Sherrill, William H. Taylor, Donald Steen, William A. Lewis, A. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Murray Kennedy, Robert Warren, Mrs. Inez Hardesty, Cora P. Hetherington, Mrs. Alberta Knighten and Walter Helwick.

Four defendants arrested in Larry's Tango parlor were on trial before a jury Friday on similar charges. The jury disagreed and was dismissed by Judge Smith. A continuance has been set until August 14, when a new trial date will be set.

CREEL CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

A meeting at Creel for Governor headquarters, 311 North Main street at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, was announced today by Horace Head, chairman of the Orange county Creel for Governor Club.

John Kissell, veteran Democratic campaigner and former newspaper man, will speak on "George Creel, A New Note of Courage, Idealism and Leadership." Kissell is well known throughout the state in the organization of Democratic clubs.

"This gathering is open to the public and all Democrats interested in precinct work in the cause of George Creel should make it a point to be there," it was said by C. Harold Dale, secretary of the Orange county Creel organization.

RENOVIZE JOB FOR DOCTOR COMPLETED

Completion of remodeling of the old Galloway home at Seventh and Bush streets, opposite the post office, into a modern physician's office building for Dr. W. P. Baker, was announced today.

W. W. Keyes of the Santa Ana Lumber company, architect, has preserved the original colonial lines in the exterior of the building. William Rohrbacher was the general contractor and the Blandings Nurseries provided the landscaping. Miss Edith Hynes of Los Angeles has been supervising the interior decoration.

The offices are built and equipped into modern surgical, laboratory and x-ray departments. This is said to be one of the first buildings in the city to be completely remodeled under the local renovize campaign.

SEES EGG FRIED ON MANHOLE COVER

E. W. Smith, 194 French street, father of Assistant Postmaster Blake Smith, has just returned from a trip to Hiawatha, Kansas, where he had the unique experience of seeing an egg fried on a man-hole cover.

The day the egg was fried on the man-hole cover was July 20, said to be the hottest day the section had seen since 1913. The day was so hot that the egg, when broken on the cover, sizzled merrily for a time until witnesses said the egg was really fried.

STRONG MAN TO GIVE PARTY

STEVE CLARK PLANS STUNTS ON BIRTHDAY

Celebrating his 72nd birthday, Steven A. Clark, Santa Ana's strong man, will give a demonstration of his strength in a series of exhibition events at his home, 515 North Artesia street, tomorrow night, it was announced today.

It is an annual event for Clark to hold open house to any who care to attend his unique birthday party. During the evening he will perform many of his stunts, and will show pictures of others.

In announcing the annual event, Clark issued a challenge to any man his age in the United States to duplicate his numerous stunts, which include lifting heavy weights, acting on the bars, kicking, wrestling, sparring and lifting dumbbells in friendly contests and other stunts. He said his opponents may choose whatever contest they wish to engage in.

"I am not bragging about my strength," Clark said, "but I will try, as long as I can, to show young boys that it pays to live a clean life."

The Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, will give a short talk during the evening's program.

CITY P.T.A. COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

Officers of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers today urged all parents and teachers to keep in mind the school of instruction which will be held at the Willard school auditorium tomorrow from 9 a.m. until noon.

Two state officers are scheduled to be present to help local chairmen conduct their respective conferences. A luncheon honoring state and district guests will be held at the Doris Kathryn Tea rooms. Reservations for the luncheon must be made with Mrs. George Ames.

Woman Gives Ring Brother of Santa Ana Woman Dies

Alonso Richardson, 82, brother of Mrs. N. S. Mullis, 824 Riverine avenue, Santa Ana, died at his home in Long Beach, it was learned today. He lived at 639 Olive street, Long Beach. He and his sister were reunited here 14 years ago after they had not seen each other for 42 years. He also leaves two nieces, Mrs. Louise Latham and Mrs. J. L. Standister, both of Santa Ana.

After the woman had the gasoline tank of her car filled, she handed Slack a ring as a deposit for the $1.24 of gasoline and then sped away without further instructions, Slack said.

Empire, Republic, Dictatorship for Germany — Monarchy Now?

When the Kaiser fled, Germany staggered through three months of confusion. Then a constitution much like our own was adopted at Weimar in 1919, and Friedrich Ebert, former harnessmaker and life-long Socialist, was chosen president. Hope followed Wilson's words: "We are glad to fight for the liberation of the peoples of the world—the German people included."

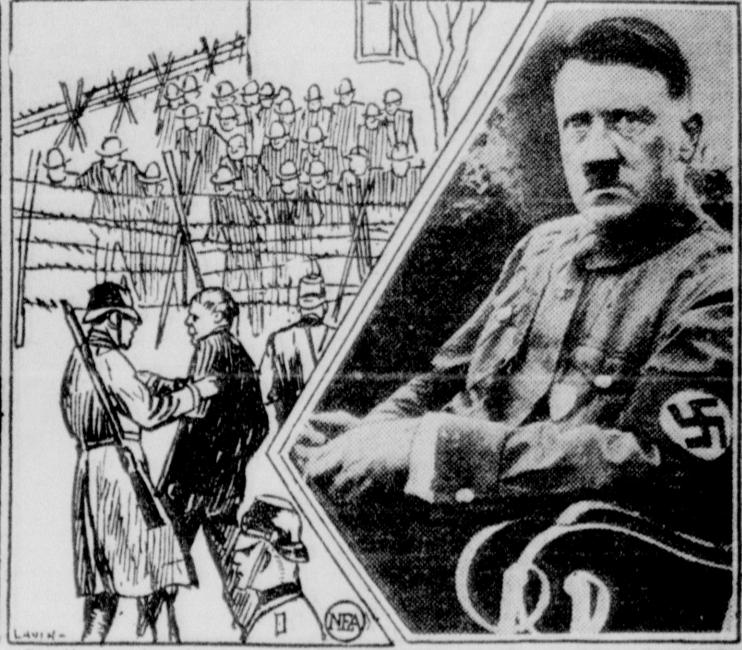

The young republic had to suppress bloody counter-revolution by both Communists and Monarchs; it had a terrible burden of war reparations; it was badly divided. A series of political assassinations followed, including liberal leaders Walter Rathenau and Matthias Erzberger, and Communist leaders Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg.

Hindenburg chose as chancellor Dr. Heinrich Brüning, hoping to unite his own support with that of Brüning's Centrists. Brüning, in two years' gallant effort, could not get necessary tax and reform laws through a Reichstag split among seven or more parties. Hindenburg dissolved the Reichstag, but Nazis and Nationals deserted its successor.

Franz Von Papen, Junker, was then named Chancellor, but he could not get a workable Reichstag majority and was succeeded by Von Schleicher, who lasted just 57 days. At least nine parties divided the Reichstag. Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler, stressing the international degradation and internal misery of Germany, continued to gather followers.

Hindenburg, re-elected, was forced to yield to Hitler when the latter polled 44 per cent of the vote, far more than any other party. He named Hitler chancellor. Hitler's National Socialists, backed by their semi-military "storm troops" in brown shirts, then began a militant and aggressive campaign to restore Germany to its former "place in the sun."

Continued failure to bring about better conditions at home or abroad, together with another impending financial crisis, brought dissatisfaction in the ranks of Hitler's National Socialists, backed by their semi-military "storm troops" in brown shirts, then began a militant and aggressive campaign to restore Germany to its former "place in the sun."

OLD NEWSPAPERS RECALL
EARLY HAPPENINGS IN S. A.

OLD NEWSPAPERS of Santa Ana always bring back fond recollections and tales of "I remember when . . ." so it was with a great deal of interest that Register staff members have been inspecting old-time newspapers brought to the newsroom following the publication of a news story last week about a paper printed in 1899.

E. F. Marks, 1124 North Bristol, brought in the oldest paper, a copy of the Pacific Weekly Blade printed on October 25, 1888, even before Orange county was separated from Los Angeles. Mrs. G. P. Hill of Hemet, resident in this city from 1886 to 1922, had a valuable bundle of old papers and souvenirs, magazine editions while Mrs. W. L. Duggan, 222 South Sycamore, displayed several old journals.

Marks has lived in Santa Ana for 47 years, one more year than the paper was old. His father, F. A. Marks, preserved the old publication, which includes many reprints from the Daily Blade being printed at that time. The paper was larger in size than present day issues and contained only very small one-line headlines.

A long article on the front page tells of efforts to eradicate scale on orange trees, while another concerns the conviction of six walnut thieves and their incarceration in the county jail at Los Angeles for 10 days. Personals, funny stories, verses, professional cards and political advertisements were among items included in the paper.

Among the local advertisers in the paper were S. H. Finley, engineer; I. B. Williams, clothier; First National bank; Frazer and Ellis, realtors; Nourse's Book store; A. L. Pellegrin Music store; Commercial bank; H. E. Stafford, surveyor; Abbott and Leonard, dry goods; Talott and Smith, grocers; H. C. Fidler, druggist; John R. Paul, undertaker; Dr. M. S. Jones; McKelvey and Matthews, attorneys; and W. R. Edwards, druggist.

World Fair Edition

Perhaps the most interesting journal exhibited by Mrs. Hill was the World's Fair edition of the Daily and Weekly Blade, issued on June 1, 1893. It is nearly a column wider than the newspaper of today, measures 27 by 26 inches and has 16 pages. Virtually the entire front page is occupied with a map of Orange county, history of California and description of Orange county, written in glowing terms.

Extensive articles include those on Newport, The Horse, Our Mission, Agriculture, Churches, Vegetables, Historic Yorba, Westminster, Fruits, Busy Bees, Water Supply, Orange County Exhibit at World Fair, Santa Ana, Hewes Ranch, San Joaquin, and Olinda Ranch.

According to a table in the paper, the 1890 census gave Santa Ana a population of 3705, Anaheim, 1819 and Orange, 1269. The total assessed valuation was $10,060,190 and in 1893, there were 307 carloads of oranges shipped, with

GROWER AID BY STATE SERA

Following a personal conference with W. L. Myers, governor of the farm credit administration of Washington, D. C., Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg, who is representing Orange county at the Western Regional conference of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Reno, Nev., informed The Register today in a letter that Governor Myers indicated a sincere willingness to adjust loans to citrus growers here on the earning capacity of citrus properties.

Governor Myers, Farm Adviser Wahlberg said in his letter, is awaiting the final report and recommendations to be embodied in the special report which Dr. Elliott Coit, citrus specialist, now has nearly completed, before taking action to increase the loan ration on farm properties in this county.

Dr. Coit was appointed to make a survey of the situation in Orange county after The Register, aided by other groups and individuals, had launched a program to effect a more equitable basis for loans on citrus properties here.

While Farm Adviser Wahlberg is the only representative from Orange county at the conference, there are 30 representatives from California at the meeting. Other states represented include, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Colorado, Montana, Oregon and Washington.

The conference this year is concerned with problems of farm credits, legislation, organization and drought relief. National fairs, aside from many other prominent agricultural men, who spoke at the conference included Governor Myers, Chester E. Davis, administrator of the AAA at Washington, D. C.; E. A. O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Willard D. Ells, general agent for the farm credit administration at Berkeley; C. J. Carey, chief of the division of market enforcement, Los Angeles, and others.

Two magazine editions of Santa Ana papers were noteworthy. One was the souvenir number of the Orange County Herald, printed in January, 1897 and a special number of the Santa Ana Blade, printed in November, 1895. Each contained many pictures of county buildings, churches, schools, prominent homes and leading citizens, with accompanying articles. As in all the old papers, the advertisements were mostly of establishments now defunct, although a few are still in business.

The most striking feature in Mrs. Hill's Orange County Herald of August 29, 1901 is a column "Looking Backward" which tells of events of 1880. A few items gleamed here and there include building of the Southern Pacific railroad to Santa Ana from San Diego . . . discontinuance of the post office at Palos Verdes in Orange county . . . W. H. Spurgeon, pioneer merchant, puts a column ad in the Herald . . . Shows Early Sketch

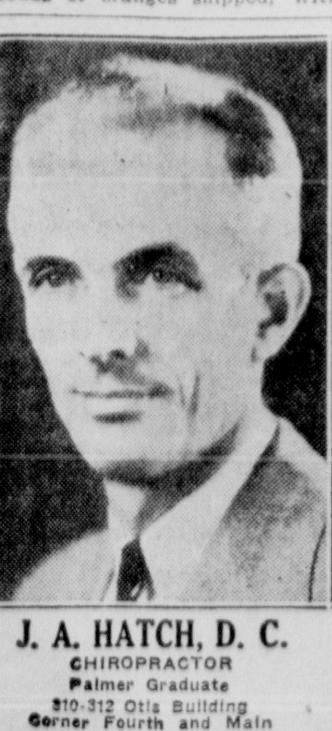

An ad announces that William F. Lutz company has moved to Fourth and Main street while a sketch on the front page shows the business block between Sycamore and West (Broadway) streets on the north side as it appeared about 1877.

A copy of the Santa Ana Daily Herald printed on April 1, 1902.

Milk Calcium Wonderful for Colitis — Nerves — Arthritis

LOUIS L. SHERMAN, M. D.

Everyone knows the value of calcium for nerves. Scientists have long known that milk calcium is superior to ordinary calcium, for milk calcium is not only a "natural calcium," but it is organic and "fits the system." Calwhay is milk whey in its entirety—except the water. Therefore it contains concentrated milk calcium. Special announcements will be made over KNX tomorrow and Wednesday, 9 to 9:30 a. m., by a well-known physician; and Louis L. Sherman, M. D., will speak over KNX on Thursday and Friday (August 9 and 10) at the same hour. Dr. Sherman will also give illustrated lectures, in Long Beach on Thursday afternoon and in Los Angeles on Friday afternoon. Subject: Colitis, Nerves, Arthritis, and Intestinal Toxemia. Admission free by ticket only, or this notice in the Santa Ana Register.

DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOU

NEW GOODRICH SILVERTOWN, THE ONLY TIRE
WITH LIFE-SAVER GOLDEN PLY, PREVENTS THE
GREAT CAUSE OF BLOW-OUTS AT HIGH SPEEDS

Gives months of extra tire mileage FREE!

WHEN would you land if you had a blow-out? What would happen to you and your family? You might come out of it safe and sound. But isn't life too sweet to take chances? Especially when, year after year, thousands of people are being killed or injured when blowouts throw cars out of control.

What causes blow-outs

Today, due to high-powered motors and whirlwind revolutions of small, modern wheels, the heat generated inside the tire is terrific. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows—until BANG! A blow-out.

To protect you, every new Goodrich Silvertown has the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This remarkable invention resists internal heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form in side the tire. The great, unseen cause of blow-outs is eliminated before it even begins.

No extra cost!

Remember, you pay no price premium for this extra safety, this extra mileage. Goodrich Safety Silvertown passenger car tire is fully guaranteed for a period of 12 months (business use, 6 mos. residential). Accidental damage due to cuts, punctures, blow-outs, rim cuts, flat tires, wheels out of alignment and ordinary wear and tear.

But what is far more important, when you buy a Goodrich Silvertown you may be saving your life. For every Silvertown has the amazing Golden Ply invention that protects you from high-speed blow-outs. Don't gamble when your lives are at stake. Get a set of Goodrich Silvertown tires and play safe. With each tire, you'll get the Goodrich guarantee which protects your tire investment. Remember, too, that you are getting the only tire in the world with the life-saving Golden Ply.

Grandchildren Arrive
For Visit En Route
To New York

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Donaldson, 401 East Fifth street, had the happy experience this past week of entertaining three of their grandchildren, Miss Barbara Koons and her twin brother and sister, Donaldson and Margaret Koons, children of the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Koons, of Seoul, Korea.

The young people left Seoul for Yokohama on July 6, and visited their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Gompertz in the latter city where Mr. Gompertz is head of one of the big oil companies. From Yokohama they sailed on the President Lincoln, expecting to reach San Francisco. But because of strike conditions they came directly to Los Angeles harbor where they were met by their grandparents.

After a visit here, the three young people sailed again for New York via Panama Canal and will visit in Sand Lake, N. Y., with the Rev. and Mrs. John Underwood Stephens their uncle and aunt. The Rev. Mr. Stephens is pastor of Sand Lake First Presbyterian church. Miss Barbara Koons, who has been doing radio work in her native Seoul, will continue piano studies and teaching in Sand Lake. Her sister and brother will enter Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio, for the year's course. They were members of this year's graduation class from high school in Seoul.

All the children were born in Seoul, where their mother, formerly Miss Floy Donaldson, went out in 1905 to marry the Rev. Mr. Koons after a college romance. Mr. Koons has been head of the John D. Wells School for Boys for the past 20 years.

Legion Auxiliary

Program features for Friday night's meeting of American Legion auxiliary in Veterans' hall, included the playlet "How It Happened" presented by Miss Vivian Rogers and Gene Olson of the Junior Community Players, directed by Miss June Arnold.

At the business session which followed nominations were made for new auxiliary officers. Mrs. Ruth Jellis received the nomination for president; Alma Hoover, first vice president; Georgia Farren and Alice Dodders, second vice president; Kay Rasmussen, secretary; Gretchen Kellogg, treasurer; Stanza Penn, chaplain; Marian Matthews, historian; Alma Meads, sergeant-at-arms; Roberts Mercer, marshal; Mary Adrian, musician.

Board members nominated were Margaret Hill, Julia Magill, Ann Leimer and Mabel Castek, while those named as county council delegates were Alma Meads, Alma Hoover, Julia Magill, Faye Minnick, Blanche Roepke, Ann Leimer, Mary Crissman, Fannie Reeves and Marian Matthews.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening with Mrs. Minnick as chairman of the committee.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

BREAKFAST

1 ripe pear, or ½ cantaloupe
1 scrambled egg with
2 thin slices toast
1 tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with
¼ cup hot skim milk, no sugar
Calories total, 410.

Take your choice of ripe pear at 90 calories, or half of a cantaloupe at 50 calories. The breakfast total was made on the pear basis.

This dessert is suggested as something quick and good to add to a skimpy dinner. It is so rich in food values that you could feed the family on spinach alone, and with this dessert, the dinner would still be sufficient.

Baked Fruit Dumplings

1 full quart boiling fruit sauce sweetened nicely
Mix together:
2 tbsps. sugar
3 tbsps. butter
½ cup sweet milk
1 scant cup sifted flour
1 level tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Shave the butter into the flour and mix with finger tips, as for biscuits. Mix to biscuit consistency with the milk (more may be needed). Have the fruit sauce, which might be red plums, fresh peaches, apricots, etc., covered dish supper; the oven very hot. Drop the biscuit dough by small spoonfuls into the boiling fruit sauce (it should be thin) and bake 20 minutes. Bits of butter over top will improve the dish.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Reliable Ice Box Rolls
1 cup mashed potato
1-3 cup sugar
3-4 cup shortening
1 tsp salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup scalded milk.
1 cake yeast, dissolved in
1-4 cup tepid water
4 cups bread flour.

This recipe came to me from a farm housewife in Montana. Apparently she is enjoying the comforts of a new mechanical refrigerator.

Board members nominated were Margaret Hill, Julia Magill, Ann Leimer and Mabel Castek, while those named as county council delegates were Alma Meads, Alma Hoover, Julia Magill, Faye Minnick, Blanche Roepke, Ann Leimer, Mary Crissman, Fannie Reeves and Marian Matthews.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening with Mrs. Minnick as chairman of the committee.

Private Duty Nurses
Plan September
Beach Party

Receiving members of the Private Duty section of Orange County Nurses' association in her home, 1141 South Ross street, Miss Mabel Reid, registrar, entertained Friday night at the August session of the group.

Miss Helen Anderson, division chairman, conducted the business session during which matters relating to the nursing profession were discussed. Plans were made also for the September meeting which will be a beach party with time and place to be announced later.

At the conclusion of the business discussion, the assembled nurses enjoyed a social hour during which Miss Reid served refreshments.

Present in addition to the hostess were the Misses Helen Anderson, Loretta Kelly, Betty Swanson, Mesdames Carrie McClurkin, Eva Roeland, Helen Noe, Hazel Paul and Rose Jackson, Santa Ana; the Misses Stella Hicks, Emma Steeve, Mesdames Ramona Nelson, Violet Niehaus and Nora Barnett, Fullerton, and Miss Leona Wunderlich, Orange.

IT MAKES A HIT WITH MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

PATTERN 1824

BY ANNE ADAMS

Any little lady will love this frock—it is so very lady-like.

Look at the paneled front—isn't it exactly the sort of thing grown-ups wear—and the puffed sleeves—and the ruffled neck? Every one of these things will make a hit with Mary Elizabeth.

The thing which will appeal to her mother is of quite a different sort—the innate simplicity and sicknesses of the whole chic little affair.

And the fact that it is easy to make will not count against it. It is nice in a printed fabric—cotton or challis.

Pattern 1824 is available in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 6 takes 1-4 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15¢) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

And while you are writing, why not include an order for a fascinating book crammed from cover to cover with stunning illustrations and captivating descriptions of new fashions, fabrics and other things that make a woman chic.

THE SUMMER ISSUE OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK, PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to Register Pattern Department.

RENUNCIATION

By Helen Welshimer
MY feel will never stray again, dear God,
Not ever, though the moon be over-bright
Across the counterpane, and I shall hear
Him I have loved low-calling in the night.

THIS is my place, and I shall never go
To seek the spring that I have known with him.
I have a row of tasks You've given me,
Kind, gentle tasks, not any of them grim.

NOW I shall take his kisses from my lips,
Nor seek his smile and reach to touch his hand.
I'll close my ears to three small singing words,
So sweet they were! Dear God, please understand!

AND I shall plot the day with tasks You give.
I'll walk Your path nor ever turn apart.
I promise You my feel will never stray—
But please, dear God, be patient with my heart!

Playwrights Are Told Of National Contest
Open To Everyone

Santa Ana writers, especially those who have shown such interest in the one-act play writing contests engineered by Community Players' association, have been notified of the Charles H. Sergei Full Length Play contest announced by University of Chicago, and open to all writers.

Emmett, Gene and Mrs. C. L. Barnett have returned from a week's visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnett in Bakersfield.

Mrs. Calvin Dohm and Marilyn spent the week end in Pomona at the home of S. Y. Dohm.

Claude Hendershot was honored Wednesday night with a birthday beach party by his mother, at the lagoon at Long Beach. Those in attendance were the Misses Riva Friddly, Mary Brown and Alta May Gonder and Jack Campbell, Elmer Proffer, Glenn Williams, Claude Hendershot and his mother, Mrs. B. Hendershot.

Mrs. W. C. Miller has returned to her home after a visit in Escondido.

G. Priddy and sons, Dean and De Ole, are on a business and pleasure trip to Northern California.

Miss Gene Paule, who formerly lived in Cypress, entertained the B-Natural club Friday at her home in Anaheim.

The next meeting of the Cypress Community club will be held August 14 at Anaheim park in the form of a picnic.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Don Grindley and Mrs. M. M. Carpenter have departed for a month's motor tour of the middle west. They will visit relatives and old friends in South Dakota and Minnesota, and spend a few days in Chicago at the Century of Progress exposition, before returning to their homes in Cypress. Wednesday night about 50 friends held a pot-luck supper in the arbor of the Lincoln boulevard home of Mrs. Chas. Lamlin in their honor.

Guests Thursday evening when Mrs. Ralph Cummins entertained with a dinner at the family home on West Ninth street, observing her husband's birthday anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Buell, Mary Janes and Haldane Cummins, Buena Park, and Ray Baker of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Etta Umberger and son, Raymond, are spending the week end at the home of friends in Hynes.

Buena Park

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scholtz of Santa Ana, were guests Thursday evening of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Greenwald and their children, Charlotte and Jean, at a chicken dinner served picnic fashion at Anahiem park.

Guests Thursday evening when Mrs. Ralph Cummins entertained with a dinner at the family home on West Ninth street, observing her husband's birthday anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Buell, Mary Janes and Haldane Cummins, Buena Park, and Ray Baker of Los Angeles.

Westminster

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cozad and their son-in-law, V. L. Finster, joined a large party of relatives at a family reunion held at Irvine park Sunday, the picnic being an annual affair.

Mrs. V. L. Finster is ill at the Orange County hospital.

Bryce McCoy, who has been confined to his home with an injured foot since running a spike through the member, is convalescing satisfactorily.

Among local people who were at Newport Beach Saturday night to witness the Tournament of Lights were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Snow and family, Mickey McGuire and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ryckman and family.

The Tinies ate till they were full. Of course poor little Duncy spilled the watermelon water all around his face and clothes.

Said Goldy, "You're a careless lad. The way you're eating's just too bad. You might, at least, be careful of your big ears, goodness knows."

This made the other Tinies smile, and then, in just a little while wee Scouty shouted, "Heaven sakes, we've made a sad mistake."

"While we've been having all this fun, the Cheerful Chaps have eaten none of these fine watermelons. Now, their share they all must take."

A Chap then said, "Gee, I began to fret. I am a hungry man. Just watch how we can eat the melons. They'll soon be all gone." The Tinies watched the whole bunch eat. Then Copy jumped up to his feet and said, "Don't eat too much, lads, or you all will sleep till dawn."

"Oh, no, we won't," one cheerful said. "We're going to hike back home, instead. There's nothing more for us to do here in the Meantles' camp."

"We hate to leave you Tiny-mites, but you'll be off to see new sights. I guess we'd better leave right now. It's quite a distant tramp."

"Hey! Just a minute. Stand right here until we give you all a cheer," said friendly little Copy.

You've been soldiers, brave and bold.

The war we had was lots of fun for all of us. We're glad you won." Then all the Tinies cheered and through the air their voices rolled.

The cheerful Chaps then cheered right back. "No spirit do you Tinies lack," said one of them. "We hope that we'll all meet again some day."

I am the captain of this crew, and now, I bid good-bye to you. As soon as we're formed into line, we're on our merry way."

(The Tinies meet a very strange man in the next story.)

NEW PLAN TO GUARD COUNTY WILL BE TOLD

A new and ingenious plan of guarding Orange county as a great treasure vault without added cost will be explained over KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock by Captain Don Wilkie, world authority on crime and crime detection and this county's non-political candidate for sheriff.

The former United States Secret Service man who has spent 20 years as a law enforcement officer and is a recognized specialist on criminal matters, has devised a unique method of county protection that will make it practically impossible for a criminal to escape from the county or to enter its boundaries.

Tuesday. Beginning with Glinka's dramatic overture, "Russian and Ludmilla," the orchestra will play Elgar's "Salut d'Amour," the "Carmen Suite No. 2" by Bizet, Goldmark's "Scorzo" and "Three Musical Pictures" by Rimsky-Korsakoff.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Aug. 6—A two-day's trip to Lake Arrowhead was taken this week by a party including Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gisler, of Talbert; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gisler, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall and Mrs. Sara Marshall, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Marshall's house guest, Miss Eily Faye Chamberlain, of Tennessee, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Bear, of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. C. McClelland, of Los Angeles, remained in the Tom Gisler home caring for the twin granddaughters in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Gisler.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and family accompanied relatives on a day's trip to Elsinore Sunday.

A number from Talbert attended the Catholic card party at Huntington Beach Monday evening at which Mrs. Ruth Gisler, Mrs. Delta Harpster and Mrs. Agnes Marshall were hostesses.

FLORES JAILED AS COUNT IS REDUCED

HOLD RITES FOR JOSEPH WACHTLER

Time for the presentation of the Goodrich-Silvertown playlet over KREG has been changed from 6:40 o'clock each Monday night to 6:25 o'clock, it was announced Saturday when Police Judge Frank Tausch on motion of the district attorney's office reduced the charge to simple assault and Flores pleaded guilty. Flores was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail.

The playlet for tonight will be appreciated by parents who have young boys striving to become musicians, studio officials said. The connection between automobile tires and the musical education of a boy will be explained in the amusing program tonight.

NEW PLAN TO PLAYLET PROGRAM TIME IS CHANGED

is the same as described in a recent article in the Register and owned by Mrs. T. H. Sherrill, 602 East Third street. It contains reproductions of the Herald in 1878 and sketches of business buildings and blocks of that era. It is printed in two sections and has 16 pages.

Another of Mrs. Hill's papers was a special edition of the Evening Blade on November 8, 1917, dedicated to the opening of the Presbyterian church, with the president, Mrs. Margaret Utt, presiding. The nominating committee is composed of Mesdames Sarah M. G. Brown, M. C. Pollard and Laura Custer.

Annual reports will be given for law and ritual, the Essenes who stood for seclusion, the Sadducees who stood for compromise, and the Zealots who stood for force in the establishment of the kingdom.

Jesus turned his back upon these proposals and sought the establishment of the true society through the extension of the highest of family relationships.

Jesus was so reverent of human personality that he forbade his disciples to call another a fool. To make a man respect himself less is to murder his personality. His reverence of personality was so great, contempt was a sin.

The crucifixion of Jesus revealed both the love of God and the horribleness of the world in which He lived. But as Henry Sloan Coffin pointed out, the forces that put Him on the cross are present at work today and the sins that drove the nails through His hands are present now, many of them in our own lives.

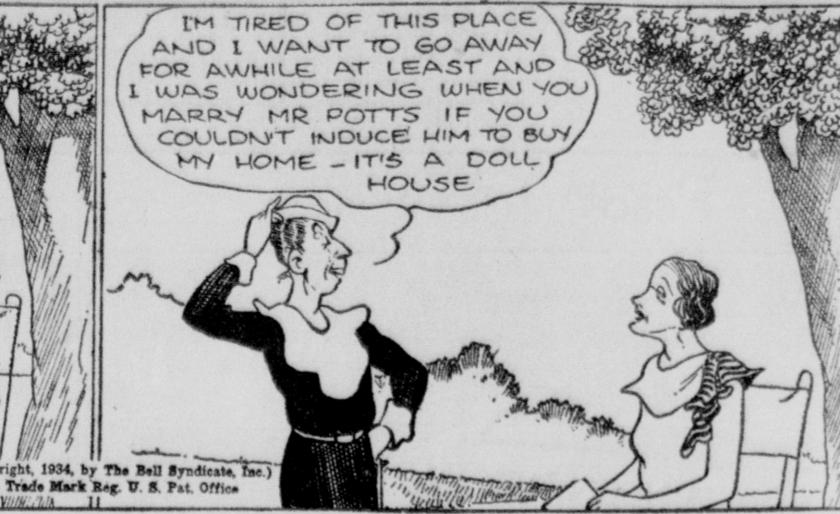

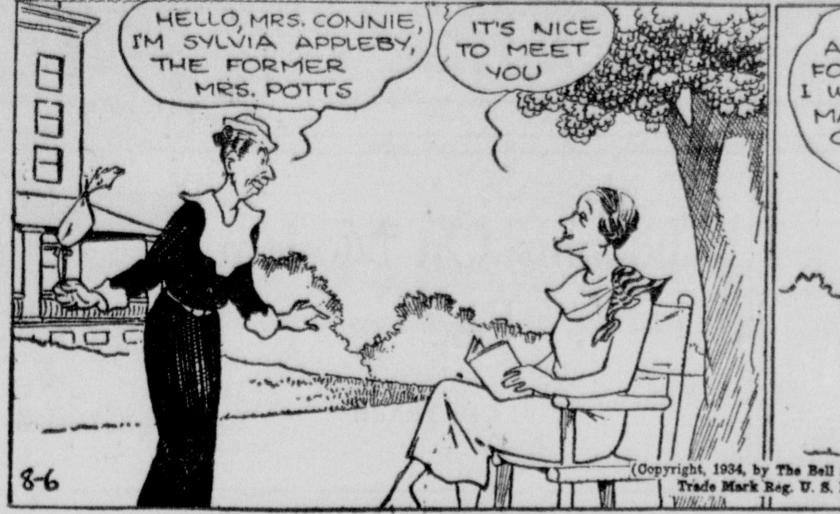

"The pie of youth is for the world to re-read the stories of Jesus, understand His message to His society and apply it to our own."

"The hope of the present world lies in the incorporation of His principles in our personal lives and social institutions."

Lack of space will prevent descriptions of all the old papers submitted to The Register, and those with especially noteworthy editions are urged to get in touch with Dr. C. D. Ball or other members of the historical society, so that authentic information may be secured on early happenings of Santa Ana.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO APPLY FOR EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY UNDER SECTION 1421 PENAL CODE.

California State Prison at San Quentin, California, June 23, 1934. District Attorney of the County of Orange, State of California.

Sir: Please take notice that I, Robert O. Gruwell, convicted of the crime of Violation of Corporate Securities Act in Superior Court of the County of Orange, State of California, and sentenced by said Court on the 5th day of March, 1934, to serve One to Five years in the State Prison at San Quentin, California, will apply to His Excellency Frank C. Merriam, successor to the late James Rolph, Jr., Governor of the State of California, for a pardon of my term of Andy 1421, as acknowledged herewith and return to my attorney, Leonard Wilson, 215 West Fifth Street, at Los Angeles, California.

Respectfully,
(Signed) ROBERT O. GRUWELL,
State of California, County of Orange.

J. S. B. Kaufman, District Attorney of the County of Orange, State of California, do hereby acknowledge receipt of notice from Robert O. Gruwell that he intends to apply to the Governor of the State of California for pardon.

THE POT CALLS THE KETTLE BLACK

The committee of congress which is uncovering the activities of the Silver Shirts, and their secret auxiliary, called the "Storm Troopers," seem to be doing a fairly thorough job. Incidentally, it would appear this job needs to be done.

It appears that this organization was incorporated by William Pelley, who has been carrying on in Asheville, N. C., this secret organization, a printing plant and a paper known as "Liberation." The only people who could become members of it were CHRISTIAN Americans. Confining itself to Christian Americans, it was also alleged to be "anti-Communistic."

It unquestionably is an organization aimed to arouse race hatred and to gain strength by appealing to the sentiment which all people have for the constitution and the government.

It is rather interesting to note how many organizations that have some other purpose, which they cannot defend, and which is decidedly un-American attempt to cover up their subversive party by joining in the general hulabaloo against the Communists.

There they know they will encounter no opposition, and each one tries to do it more vociferously than the other, so that the folk who are urged that the "hobgoblins" will get them will think that they are the greatest defenders of all.

A propos of this general propaganda, it is quite interesting to note a paragraph or so in the Whirligig today, that says that the financial interests of New York are beginning to worry more over this "anti-red menace" propaganda than they ever did over the "red menace."

Then it says: "The best posted New Yorkers aren't seeing red at all. They realize there are communists in labor ranks. They are convinced this element is negligible and will remain so—unless business leaders themselves raise red recruits by making martyrs."

When the big financial interests of New York begin to find that arousing an hysteria against one group, in order to injure another, is beginning to seriously back-fire, so they want it stopped, it will soon be stopped, for that is where it started, and they keep it going, though a great many who are carrying it on do not realize it.

So the uncovering by this committee of how all these forces are working to build up a machine for dictatorship, anti-Jewish in its essence, is accomplishing a great deal of collateral value, besides the direct opposition.

The greatest argument that can be used against any group that believes in violence and force, or the overthrow of government, is the argument which they themselves bring forth to propagate it. In a nation with a free ballot, living under a constitution whereby laws can be enacted to correct every evil, there is no place for such propaganda to appeal to the great masses of intelligent people, and it isn't doing it.

It is only making martyrs through false propaganda that their numbers are increased. Stop that and it will die. Even the reactionaries in New York are beginning to see it.

REACHING A STABLE POPULATION

In the decades preceding the World war, the population of our country grew by leaps and bounds. The birth rate still continued fairly high.

The countries of Europe were pouring their surplus populations through our ports of entry. The cotton industry, the steel industry, and the coal industry made large demands for raw labor.

In the West a large population of self-sufficient farmers was growing up. Machinery had not yet come in to do away with practically all manual labor.

Thousands were employed digging trenches in cities. Other thousands were employed in the building of new railroads. Still other thousands of migratory workers moved from one labor region to another.

All this has changed. The turning of a switch or a lever sets a machine in motion that does the work of 50 or 100 men.

We have a surplus of manpower increasingly difficult to absorb. There is nothing to indicate that the population of the next 50 years will increase to any large extent.

Those best informed on the possibilities of the future are certain that the next 25 years will see little need for further expansion in any direction. Those familiar with large cities have seen miles of streets laid out in new allotments which will not be needed for years to come.

It is only just dawning upon many that this condition which has existed in European countries for the last 50 years has now reached us. The merchant cannot expect to increase his business each year over the year previous. The use of electricity has great possibilities; but railroads have seen the end of their growth; the automobile is approaching the saturation point.

Depreciation and renewals will continue to call for a large industrialism; but we are reaching the end of new and larger corporations. It will be well if those who have had great dreams of a greater future will sense this chance, and resign and adapt themselves to it. Only so, will the country come to a greater stability.

THE GAY NINETIES FINDS A FRIEND

In the August Harpers, Henry Seidel Canby takes up a brief for the much-burlesqued period known as the "gay nineties."

It is a series of recollections from memories rather than a citation of documents. We believe he is right in saying that the life of the nineties was quite as normal as most periods of the country's history.

The fact that styles of dress were markedly different from those of today, that life was simpler in its outward reaches, and that the period had a flavor all its own, is simply to say what may be said of any other period of our history.

To those who lived in those supposedly peculiar times, there was nothing fantastic or unreal about them. The inner lives and aspirations of men and women were not so different from the 1930s.

Outward conditions change with the passing years, but men and women are ever the same. The springs of human thought and action flow from the same sources, and one who gets beneath the surface will find considerable uniformity in men's actions.

The real is always the near. The strange and the romantic are always far away.

There is no question that the thirties of this era fifty years hence will seem strange to those living then. Only as memory brings back the scenes and the spirit of earlier days do we discover that one age differs from another only in its outward manifestations.

If differences there be, they are those set against the background of conditions that differ.

The reading of the series of articles written by Mr. Canby will bring back to those who lived in the nineties a picture of life very normal and quite as satisfying as when life was being lived in that period.

And perhaps the present generation will find less to joke about and smile about when it is led into the actualities of that period which has been too much burlesqued by fanciful writers and romancers.

ONE OFFICE WITHOUT A CONTEST

It is rather a relief, in looking over the various offices, to come across those in which either there is no contest or so little that there is practically no discussion.

This is the situation with the office of state controller, with Ray L. Riley incumbent.

Mr. Riley is a man who has grown in public opinion ever since he entered public life. He probably is as well equipped for his office as any man is for any office which he seeks in this state.

He is a hard worker, knows the state's finances, and is constantly striving to find a way out of every financial difficulty which the state confronts. While unquestionably faults can be found with any specific plan, it should be noted that in these difficulties Mr. Riley has a plan, and the plan works.

While under our state law a man must seek this office as a partisan regardless of partisanship, Mr. Riley would undoubtedly be the choice of a vast majority of the citizens, removing entirely the necessity of a party label.

During such a period of stress and trial as the one through which we are passing, outstanding men of ability should be kept in public office wherever they have shown a continued response to the spirit of democracy. Mr. Riley is that kind of a man. Those who know him best are loudest in his praise.

We bespeak for him the approval of the voters of all parties.

Christian Science Monitor

The celebrations which England is preparing in honor of the centenary of Samuel Taylor Coleridge are neither overelaborate nor undeserved. The fame of Coleridge as critic and philosopher may not today shine as brightly as once it did, but it is becoming increasingly recognized that as a poet he introduced into the treasure house of English literature a unique gift.

When Coleridge first began to write toward the end of the eighteenth century, bringing out with his friend Wordsworth that famous volume of "Lyrical Ballads," a copy of the first edition of which has recently fetched a very high price in a London auction room, the literature of England already, of course, provided a more than goodly heritage. It was a heritage to which in some respects Coleridge himself could hope to add little. He had not the rich Elizabethan perception of the magnificence of the world nor the deep spiritual convictions of Milton, nor the inexhaustible eloquence of the Renaissance.

But he touched a note that no English writer had ever touched in quite the same way before. The repositories of English literature may be searched in vain, earlier than the publication of "Lyrical Ballads" for any poem that has the supreme enchantment, the very hint of words not realized, which is heard in "The Ancient Mariner."

And now 'twas like all instruments,

Now like a lonely flute:

And now it was an angel's song,

That makes the heavens be mute.

Some judges, including no less eminent an authority than Prof. Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, go so far as to say that not only did no writer in the English language strike that peculiar note of magic before Coleridge, but that no one has been able to capture it since. Others might perhaps detect at least echoes of it in Keats and in Matthew Arnold's "Tristram and Isolde," while surely it tinkled faintly on the other side of the Atlantic in some of the cadences of Edgar Allan Poe. But in any case, Britain and the world are right to honor the unrivaled magician, the Merlin of English poetry.

Those Skirts Again

San Francisco Chronicle

The Associated Press cables from Paris that some of the early window displays show longer skirts. However, the real dictators have not yet spoken so the decree from which there is no appeal has not yet been promulgated. Personal liberty may still flourish in the interim.

But whether long or short or status quo, the social and economic implications will be widespread. Not only milady is interested, but the whole marvelous network, from the Australian shepherd to the ultimate consumer. A single decree of fashion could insure recovery.

The rise and fall of the skirt has taken its place with the rise and fall of empires. In "Only Yesterday," one of the popular reviews of the recent past, the author includes the length of the skirt in his summaries of the outstanding events of the periods reviewed—along with the downfall of kingdoms, revolutions, the world series, presidential elections and all the parade of banner headlines.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE SLOW JOG TROT

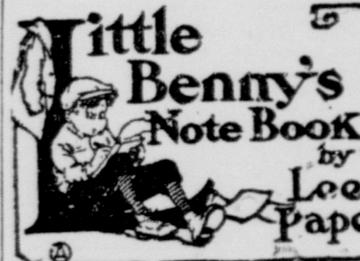

Motors, always in a hurry,
Take you swiftly there and back,
But you always have the feeling
That there's something that you lack.
If you really like the country—
And what man of sense does not?—
Ride a little lazy pony
On a slow jog trot.

There'll be ample time to wonder
At whatever you behold—
Cattle grazing in the pastures.
Sheep returning to the fold.
Ripening grain on stretching hill slopes.
Blackbirds winging in a throng.
While, without a thought to trouble,
You just jog along.

Life is placid, mild and gentle,
Quiet is the country air,
Just a few belated robins
Still are singing here and there,
Very little does it matter
If the skies are blue or gray,
You may not know where you're going,
But you're on your way.

Far removed from care or trouble,
Quite remote from fret and toil,
Look across the rambling fences.
Sniff the fragrance of the soil,
Leave the world where people struggle
For they rarely know quite what,
While you zigzag down the byways
On a slow jog trot.

FRED FEERNOT AND THE REVOLUTIONISTS

First Act

Scene, outside the palace.
Ferst speaker. Fellow citizens, the king is about to sign a bill raising our taxes still higher, and they're so high already how can we stand them?

Second speaker. We can't.

Ferst speaker. Well, it's a wonder we can. But if the king signs this bill at 3 o'clock sharp like he intends to, our patience will be at an end and so will this country, because it will mean a revolution.

Fred Feernot. I volunteer to go in and warn the king, and what's more I better hurry because it's 5 minutes to 3 now.

Second Act

Scene, inside the palace.

Royal chamberlain. Here's Fred Feernot your majesty.

King. Hellow Fred. I'll talk to you in a minnit. I'm just signing this new tax bill and when I'm in the midst of doing something I like to get it done.

Fred Feernot. Try a hunk of this chewing candy while you're signing, your majesty.

King. Well, I never could resist chewing candy. Gazoos but this is good. Uh uh ah ah oh.

Royal chamberlain. He meens his teeth are stuck together, and he meens he can't write unless he sticks his tongue out. It was a habit he got into when he was a boy and nobody didn't dare correct him of it because he was a prince, so he still has it.

Fred Feernot. O well, that chewing candy melts in 20 minnits so that gives you 20 minnits to think over the bill and realize it will cause a revolution and after that you wont have a chance to say anything with your tongue any place.

Third Act

Scene, 20 minnits later.

King. It's melted and I've thawt it over and I wont sine it. It was a lucky thing you offered me that chewing candy, Fred.

Fred Feernot. Lucky nothing, it was a good idear.

The End.

TEMPERATURES HIGH

Rainstorms Visit Utah And Colorado; Snow Covers Mount Washington.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—(UP)—The midwest was plunged into another searing heat wave today.

Wilted by the unprecedented July temperatures, which broke all records, the section got a few days respite last week, but over the weekend found temperatures skyrocketing to points near the summer highs.

Today the weather bureau said immediate relief was not in sight. A low pressure area is drawing hot air from the southwest, and until it moves on, most of the midwest will savor in the stagnant hot air.

Whether August will produce heat like that of July, which burned the already forlorn crops to a crisp and took nearly a thousand lives, was uncertain, but the weatherman pointed out that August, not July, usually produces the hottest weather in the midwest, and that good rains seldom fall in that period.

The weather meant added suffering for humans and farm stock. Crops already are virtually beyond help, but rains would aid in the production of late forage crops. Cattle and other farm stock probably will jam the markets again. Grain prices spurted on the exchanges.

In Omaha yesterday the temperature was 105.5, but three-tenths under the July high. It caused one death, Emporia, Kan., reported 110 degrees, and Kansas City 106. It was 104 at Dodge City and 106 at Muncie. Nearly all reporting weather stations were above the 100 mark. At St. Louis, however,

SALES TAX TOTAL SETS NEW RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Receipts from California's 2% percent sales tax for the second quarter of 1934 amounted to $12,410,846, the largest total for any three months since the levy became effective a year ago, the board of equalization reported today.

For the first 11 months of its existence, the tax has returned $45,942,000 for an average of better than $4,000,000 a month, the report said.

Cost of administering the sales tax law fell far short of the amount authorized by the legislature, according to the report. Allowed two per cent of collections for administrative purposes, or approximately $830,000, the board has spent about $586,000.

This represents 1.7 per cent chargeable to overhead, of which the chief disbursement was for salaries of an average number of 460 sales tax employees.

ASK REMOVAL OF WADDELL'S NAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Charging a deliberate attempt to confuse voters because of a similarity in names, attorneys for Justus S. Wardell, Democratic candidate for governor, today prepared to petition the state supreme court to prevent the name of James E. Waddell, Oaklawn, from appearing on the ballot.

Papers requesting a writ of mandamus set forth that Waddell filed nomination papers in Alameda county and then withdrew from the race recently. The withdrawal, attorneys for Wardell pointed out, does not remove his name from the ballot.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, registrar of voters in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and county clerks of Alameda, San Bernardino and Sacramento were named respondents with Waddell.

Death Takes One of The Oldest Twins

SAVOY, Mass., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Death has separated New England's oldest twins. Miss Mary Abbe Pierce, 90, died at her Hilltop homestead here yesterday after a long illness. Her twin, Mrs. Martha Ann Sturtevant, survives.

The sisters, born here March 28, 1844, had lived together except for the six years of Mrs. Sturtevant's married life with Edward H. Sturtevant, a Civil war veteran.

PRESIDENT TO VISIT DROUGHT AREA TUESDAY

Five Billion Dollar Cost Of Dry Spell Told By Relief Official

BULLETIN

HAVRE, Mont., Aug. 6.—(UP)—A depressing picture of drought, desolation and the information that 60 per cent of the nation's land area is affected was laid before President Roosevelt today as he sped eastward across Montana's sun-baked wheat fields.

En route to Fort Peck, Mont., to inspect the gigantic PWA irrigation, navigation and flood control project, the chief executive heard Lawrence Westbrook, assistant federal emergency relief administrator, describe drought condition and outline what has and will be done for the victims.

Mr. Roosevelt sat in thoughtful silence as Westbrook reeled off data to show that the great dry spell already had cost the country $5,000,000,000, a staggering sum that is nearly half of the war debt owed America. Furthermore, he said that it would be necessary to slaughter from 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 head of cattle in the stricken areas.

The president will have an opportunity of seeing for himself how widespread has been the catastrophe when his special train enters North Dakota tomorrow. There, in some sections, a once fertile land has been turned into a desert, and likely to remain so because of destruction of top soil by the steady winds.

"The drought area is extending every day," Westbrook said. He added that since congress adjourned after appropriating a half billion dollars for relief of the sufferers the drought had spread 100 per cent in effectiveness.

Mr. Roosevelt also was informed that from 20,000,000 to 26,000,000 persons were affected and that approximately 300,000 farm families were receiving relief. Westbrook added that in 20 states rural rehabilitation corporations were functioning. Drawing up permanent programs under which farm groups would be placed on better land and safeguarding measures extended.

The president left the train in the late afternoon, motoring under a blistering sun to the Fort Peck development, 20 miles from the station at Glasgow, Mont. He saw big steam shovels biting into the earth and corps of workmen toiling on the construction of what will be the largest earthen dam in the world and which, when completed, will store up millions of tons of water in a lake 175 miles long. The project will cost $75,000,000.

In a brief talk similar to ones delivered at Bonneville, Wash., and Grand Coulee, he pointed to the economic value of the development and what it would mean to the west in the form of flood control, soil erosion prevention and the opening up of a vast area to inland navigation.

MOTHER AND SON KILLED

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. Delia Vaughn, 42, and her son, Francis Vaughn, 18, both of Eureka, were killed instantly and four other persons were injured in an automobile accident Sunday on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway 16 miles west of Yuba City.

Papers requesting a writ of mandamus set forth that Waddell filed nomination papers in Alameda county and then withdrew from the race recently. The withdrawal, attorneys for Wardell pointed out, does not remove his name from the ballot.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, registrar of voters in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and county clerks of Alameda, San Bernardino and Sacramento were named respondents with Waddell.

LOCAL OPTION QUALIFIES FOR NOVEMBER VOTE

Seven Initiative Proposals
To Be Ballotted Upon;
Deadline Tomorrow

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Seven initiative proposals had qualified today for the November ballot, and only one more day remained for filing petitions with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The constitutional amendment proposals which have qualified and will appear on the general election ballot are:

Local option—Proposing that upon an initiative petition the legislative body of a city or county shall submit to qualified electors the question of prohibiting traffic in beverages exceeding one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

Intoxicated Liquors—Providing for the sale of liquors in public eating places and bona-fide clubs.

Civil service—Extending the scope of state civil service.

Selection of judges—Removing judges from political influence, making their positions selective and their tenure subject to the will of the people, or to retirement or removal by law.

Attorney general—Increasing his powers, designating him a chief law officer of the state and giving him direct supervision over every district attorney and sheriff.

Evidence in criminal cases—Permitting judges to comment on the evidence to the jury, in order to assist the jury in arriving at a proper understanding of the case.

Pleading guilty—Permitting a defendant to plead guilty as to his guilt before a committing magistrate, rather than being forced to wait until his case reaches the superior court.

In order to qualify an initiative petition, 110,811 signatures of qualified voters must be obtained.

All petitions must reach the secretary of state by midnight tomorrow. Preliminary petitions already filed but not qualified as yet include proposals to:

Liberalize the state liquor laws; repeat the criminal syndicalism act; make the state board of education elective and the superintendent of public instruction an appointed member of the board; improve teachers' and instructors' tenure; prohibit dismissal of teachers except for cause; abolish the sales tax; adopt a syncretic tax. In addition, chiropractic, naturopathic and California Bar association acts have been filed.

CHICAGO TEACHERS WILL GET BACK PAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, came to Chicago today to make preparations for payment of $25,447,240 in back pay to Chicago school relief.

Accompanying Jones were Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the wartime president. They came from Mackinac Island in the upper Great Lakes by steamer.

The RFC head told Robert C. Keenan, teachers' representative and author of the federal act permitting the loan to Chicago, that he immediately would survey the 129 pieces of property posted as security for the loan.

HOLD BOY, 13, FOR PLAYMATE MURDER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Thirteen-year-old Billy Atares, alleged to have shot and killed Raymond Wylder, 11, because the latter "tattled" about a childless escapee, sat behind the bars of the Sangamon county jail today faced with the possibility of being tried for murder.

In a nearby cell was another playmate, Jack Beam, 14, the only witness to the shooting. He said Billy deliberately shot Raymond. He said he didn't know the gun was loaded. To this the Beam youth said he saw Atares load the gun and cock the trigger.

Fan Dancer Is Worried About Operation Scar

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—The most embarrassing situation:

A fan dancer with a new appendicitis scar.

Rosalia, over whose unblemished surface waving fans have entertained thousands of world's fair visitors, was recuperating from an operation at Illinois Central hospital today.

Her greatest concern, doctors said, was the scar.

SCORE BANKERS IN SALES OF FOREIGN BONDS

"Scandalous Chapter" In U. S. History Denounced
By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Activities of investment bankers in floating foreign securities in the United States form "one of the most scandalous chapters in the history of American investment banking," the senate stock market committee said today in the second report on its two-year investigation.

The sale of these foreign issues was characterized by practices and abuses which were violative of the most elementary principles of business ethics," the report charged.

The first committee report was issued several weeks ago. Subsequent chapters are to be released from time to time.

The report denounced the lack of protection to investors and the custom of offering new issues to preferred purchasers at prices which guaranteed a profitable turnover without risk.

The colossal loss sustained by the public on bond issues sponsored by investment bankers manifests that these bankers were either incompetent or derelict in the performance of their duties," the report stated.

"The record of activities in the investment banking field * were so shocking as to place beyond controversy the urgent need for legislation such as the banking act of 1933 and the securities act of 1934."

The report stated that the public purchased $5,933,000,000 in foreign bonds alone from 1923 to 1930, and that approximately $2-

FEDERAL GRAND JURY ACTION AGAINST "SILVER SHIRTS" IS PLANNED BY CONGRESSMAN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Four witnesses, one a woman and another believed to be a San Diego mystery witness, connected with Silver Shirt activities in that city, were questioned today by Congressman Charles Kramer as he resumed his secret hearings in preparation for Pacific Coast sessions of a congressional investigation committee.

Declaring publication of some of the aims of his inquiry had handicapped his gathering of evidence, Kramer today shrouded all the going and coming of witnesses in secrecy. All were under strict orders not to divulge their names or the purposes for which they had been called.

What information had been gained from the San Diego witness was not indicated. However, the man said to be a mysterious and wealth man who recently has made repeated trips to Germany, supposedly to contact Nazi leaders there.

Kramer declared he had sufficient evidence on the Silver Shirts organization in San Diego to warrant an investigation by the federal grand jury.

In a nearby cell was another playmate, Jack Beam, 14, the only witness to the shooting. He said Billy deliberately shot Raymond.

BULLETIN

Two suspects in the J. C. Penney store holdup Saturday night were arrested today in Los Angeles and were being questioned by local police at noon. Both are ex-convicts from Washington, had automatic revolvers in their possession and had a rented car from Saturday afternoon to Sunday morning, according to brief reports from Los Angeles.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Four thousand head of cattle, sheep and hogs flowed into Chicago from farms today as the union stockyards resumed normal operations after a 13-day strike enforced hiatus.

With a "moral victory" won, 1,200 stock handlers returned to work to await arbitration of grievances by Federal District Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Credit for ending the strike went largely to Gen. Hugh Johnson, NRA administrator. Here to speak at the world fair, Johnson was drafted as a conciliator by the government mediators who had struggled unsuccessfully for a week to bring stockyards officials and union leaders to common ground.

Handlers employed by the stockyards company struck July 24, with the complaint that the company had not abided by an agreement which ended a strike last November. Back wages were overdue, they said, and working conditions were unsatisfactory.

Judge Sullivan into the dispute because it was he who arranged the November settlement. Sullivan agreed to arbitrate the present dispute on the basis of his former award. The union previously had refused to accept his intervention.

Sanders, at the wheel of the car at the curb, immediately jumped from the machine to aid Weinberg, but the bandits quickly fled west down an alley at the rear of the bank, jumped into their waiting car at Sycamore street and began lost in heavy traffic.

The holdup occurred just at o'clock, with theater patrons walking by the bank on the brightly lighted street. As Weinberg reached the bank vault, he told officers, one of two men roughly pushed him into the side doorway of the building and the other covered him with a gun and robbed him of his money bag, they ordered him to run towards Fourth street and not turn around.

Sanders saw the men jump into their car on Sycamore street and said he believed a third man was driving, since they drove away and turned west on Fourth street without delay.

The man with the revolver was described by Weinberg and Sanders as being 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing 145 pounds and wearing brown pants and a dark coat. The other man was costumed, was wearing a white shirt, grey pants and was 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighed about 135 pounds. Both men appeared to be about 22 years of age.

The mystery car in which they made their escape was believed to be a Chevrolet, about a 1929 or 1930 model, and of a dark or black color, according to Sanders.

NEW HEAT WAVE SEARS MIDWEST. PRICES SOAR

The temperature was in the low 90's.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Eager traders turned the pits of the Chicago Board of Trade into turmoil today as grain prices zoomed upward to new seasonal highs.

A new heat wave in the stock market sent again prices soaring on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Trading was at a furious pace as wheat advanced two cents at the opening. The May delivery sold for $1.10.

A new heat wave, moving upon the middle and the southwest had an immediate effect on prices.

The price of wheat, which shot upward two cents at the opening, continued unchecked amid wild scenes in the pits. During the morning the price rose to $1.00 1-8 to $1.11 for the various deliveries up from two and three-fourths to three and one-eighth cents.

Corn, badly ravaged by the drought, sold at 74, 77 and $1.14 cents, showing a gain of from 2½ to 3½ cents.

Oats were up a cent and new rose from 88¢ to 77¢ cents.

Crop reports estimated that corn, which thousands of farmers had looked to as a means of salvaging some of their crop losses, was deteriorating at the rate of 15 million bushels a day.

So furious was the pace of trading that the huge blackboards bordering the pits were far behind the prices bid in the pits.

Extra help was called in by traders to handle the buying and selling orders as the market continued at its dizzy pace.

So rapid were the changes in prices that they could not be telephoned to the blackboard before new quotations nullified them.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Rainstorms of almost cloudburst proportions last night lashed Utah.

Highways were blocked by mud whirled from mountain canyons.

Three towns were plunged into darkness as the storm tore down electric wires. Six persons narrowly escaped death as their car was capsized by a four-foot wall of water.

The storm centered in Brigham canyon. There water roared four feet deep, carrying boulders and mud that barricaded the highway when the first fury of the storm subsided.

Rain continued steadily more than two hours after the storm's first violent attack.

Precipitation at Salt Lake City was slightly more than .81 inch.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Prominent stage-players in the cast of "Othello," Shakespearean drama, which concluded its final production at Central City's famous opera house Saturday night, and prominent members of Denver society, were caught yesterday in a cloudburst that flooded the mountain district.

The actors and others in their group were en route down Golden Gate canon when the cloudburst halted them. A bridge had washed away which necessitated their wading through knee-deep water, when the heavy rain subsided, to automobile on the other side of the gulch.

Those included in the group were Walter Huston and his wife, Nan Sutherland, leading man and woman in "Othello." Robert Edmund Jones, widely known in dramatic circles and director of the production at Central City, his

11 HURT AS DUD SHELL EXPLODES

FORT RILEY, Kan., Aug. 6.—(UP)—A "dud" 165 millimeter gas shell exploded in a tent here yesterday and 11 persons, including three women, were wounded.

The shell had been picked up on the firing range and carried to a tent at Camp Whiteside, home of the National Guard encampment here, where the women, another civilian visitor, and a group of guardmen in camp for the first time, were examining it.

Albert Stuckey, of Gridley, warned the soldiers against handling the shell. He said it was against rules and dangerous. Lee Hess of Burlington, who had the shell, started to place it on the floor. As he stooped the shell slipped, hit the floor and exploded. Fragments were found 200 yards away.

$600,000,000 was in default March 1, 1934.

The committee criticized the custom of stabilizing the price of new issues during the flotation. It was shown that after this artificial support was removed prices slumped.

A pegging process of this nature, the report commented, clearly indicates that the bankers are primarily concerned with the interest of the borrowing corporation to the disadvantage and detriment of the investing public."

MINERS KILLED IN DUST EXPLOSION

BIG STONE GAP, Va., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Eight men were killed and nine more were believed to have met death in a dust explosion a mile and a half below ground today in the No. 3 Derby mine of the Stonega Coal and Coke company.

Eighty-five miners had just entered for work when the explosion occurred. The majority escaped through a man-way. The explosion was local and affected only a small portion of the mine.

Eight bodies were recovered from the wreckage by rescue workers shortly after the detonation. Nine others were missing and believed killed.

The dead: Clyde Ward, Charlie Milan, Alex Payne, Ralph Burshell, foreman; Jessie Doyle, Lafayette Blondell, Clarence Reed and Charles Reese. Their bodies were brought out.

Joe Davis of the U. S. Bureau of Mines was in charge of rescue organization.

STAB PRISONER AT SAN QUENTIN

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Slabbed by a fellow prisoner while lining up for breakfast today, Frank Kelley, 28, was in a critical condition at the San Quentin hospital, suffering from wounds that may prove fatal.

Physicians placed Kelley on the operating table and performed an emergency operation to save his life.

Kelley, doing time for burglary in Glenn county, refused to name his assailant.

Burcham, 31, Los Angeles pilot, narrowly escaped death here today when the propeller dropped off his biplane at 1000 feet. The plane landed in a cow pasture at the edge of the city, barely missing high tension wires and trees.

Burcham escaped injury. The plane was undamaged. The sudden cutting off of the motor was believed to have loosened the propeller, which buried itself in the ground, close to a house.

Burcham, holder of the world's inverted flying record of four hours and five minutes, was enroute from Muncie, Ind., to Cleveland.

ers and Weintraub could not identify them.

Paul Herbert, 309 West Main street, Fullerton, and Joe Darracq, Placentia, had just stepped into their car within a few feet of the holdup and gave officers similar descriptions of the men. Darracq said he thought a third man with a gun stood at the rear of the bank.

While police investigated the case, officials of the Penney store were attempting to accurately estimate their loss. Because of the large amount of money stolen in the form of checks, company heads have requested all patrons who cashed checks in the store Saturday to phone the office, and report their names and addresses. In this way, payment on the checks can be stopped at individual banks before they can be cashed by the bandits.

This is the first case in recent years where such a bold and successful holdup has been made in the city. The depository vault is used by a great many stores each night and is located near located on the busiest corner in located on the busiest corner in the city.

The Jews, barricaded with their families inside their homes, dropped stones on the Moslems from the flat roofs.

HOLD MOTHER IN INFANT'S MURDER

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 6.—(UP)—Mrs. Stella Tanich, 30, charged with the torch murder of her two-year-old son Vincent, today was held responsible for the act by a coroner's jury.

The woman, against whom police lodged a formal murder charge, readily admitted soaking her baby's clothing with kerosene, then applying a match. She had soaked her own clothing, intending, she told police, to take her own life.

"Baby Vincent smiled when he burned," she said in her hospital cell room today. "Then I sorry I kill him. I call police."

STUDY SUBSTITUTE FOR NAVAL RATIO

TOKYO, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Admiral Keisuke Okada, Japan's new premier, told a group of peers today that Japanese naval groups are studying a substitute plan to be offered in place of the ratio system at the 1935 naval conference.

Okada, in speaking to the peers, referred to Japan's opposition to the 5-5-3 ratio as "harmful to Japan's national self-respect."

sumers, but housewives were without laundry or cleaning service and were unable to purchase many table "luxuries".

The most significant section of Olson's drastic order was a clause permitting immediate resumption of service by any truck owner who would sign the so-called Haas-Dunnigan plan for a strike settlement.

The plan was proposed last week by the Rev. Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal mediators. The union accepted it, but employers submitted a counter proposal different in several details.

The employers' advisory council, representing 166 firms, expressed bitter resentment of the order as a dictatorial club to force their submission to union terms.

A few hours after Olson signed the order, union leaders jubilantly announced that two employers had signed contracts. Father Haas said other employers indicated they would yield today to the governor's pressure.

This order will expose the chiselers who have prevented a settlement of this strike," said Olson.

Citizens will then know where the fault rests and will take such action as they, as patriotic citizens, believe advisable."

GUILT DENIED ONLICENSE CHARGE

The Rev. Grover C. Ralston of Garden Grove, arraigned today before Justice Kenneth E. Morrison in Santa Ana on a misdemeanor charge of permitting his 13-year-old son, Barclay, to drive an automobile without a license, entered a plea of not guilty.

He was released on his own case, which was set for August recognition pending trial of the 14 at 9 a. m., without a jury.

The charge grew out of an accident July 31 near Garden Grove, where Ernest Umphenour, 14, riding his bicycle, was struck and killed by the Ralston car, driven by the pastor's son. The coroner's jury, at the inquest, fixed no responsibility.

The Rev. Mr. Ralston's defense, it was understood today, would be that his car was being driven by the son, without the father's permission.

Attorney L. A. West, counsel for the defense, had requested that the case be heard in Santa Ana justice court rather than in the Anaheim justice court, Justice Morrison was informed when he inquired why the arraignment was held in his court.

BUMPER STOLEN

The bumper of a car owned by J. J. Harrison, 2940 North Broadway, was stolen while the machine was parked at Sixth and Broadway Friday night, it was reported to police Saturday. The bumper is free and in the east lobby of the building.

16 BOOKED AT COUNTY JAIL ON DRUNK COUNTSJapanese Youth Drowned While Learning To Swim

While learning to swim in the bay at Anaheim Landing, Henry Asawa, 17, Norwalk Japanese youth, was drowned Saturday before noon when he lost his hold while being towed by a rowboat.

The drowning victim and his two brothers, Charles and George, were spending the day at the beach and had a small rowboat, including five for drunken driving and 11 for drunkenness.

Officers of the California Highway Patrol arrested four alleged drunken drivers and one was booked by Santa Ana police.

Lyle E. Sharpe, 35, Beverly Hills musician, whose machine sideswiped several others on the coast highway near Corona Del Mar last night, was booked for drunken driving at 10:25 p. m. by State Officers Harry Wild and Dan Adams. He was arraigned before Judge D. J. Dodge in Costa Mesa this morning, had ball set at $500 and had his preliminary hearing scheduled for August 20.

William MacPherson, 31, Riverside, was arrested for drunken driving at Tenth and Main streets at 5:30 a. m. yesterday by Officers F. L. Grouard and William Harrington. He posted $500 bail to secure his release from jail.

Clarke W. Barnard, 32, Los Angeles, was thoughtless enough to drive past the jail from curb to curb shortly after midnight Saturday and was placed under arrest by State Officer Vernon Barnhill, who was just driving away from the highway patrol office in the courthouse. When arraigned on drunken driving charges today before Judge Kenneth Morrison, bail was set at $500 and a preliminary hearing set for August 13 at 10 a. m.

Arrested near the Arches by State Officer Horace Inge at midnight Saturday, Francis E. Mullins, 32, 312 North Broadway, was booked for drunken driving and arraigned today before Judge Dodge. Bail was set at $500 and a preliminary hearing for August 13.

Earl J. Cook, 40, El Toro, was arrested for drunken driving at 7 p. m. Saturday by State Officer Ray Bradfield and later released from jail without bail by Judge Dodge. The amount, a decrease as compared to the $456,114.55 total collected last year, was paid by 11,200 taxpayers. Sleeper disclosed. Had the tax rate been the same as last year, the personal property would have gone above $500,000, he estimated.

The county tax rates, however, had been lowered from $1.55 inside of cities and $1.77 outside, from 1932, to 90 cents inside and $1.04 outside of cities, for 1934.

REMODELING WORK UNDER WAY TODAY

Remodeling of the Spurgeon store building between Third and Fourth streets on Sycamore street was launched today following the awarding of a $3460 contract to George A. Barrows, general contractor.

The contract calls for the tearing out of partitions to make the divided stores into one large store room; to put steel columns and beams in the center to take the place of the main partition; to plaster the interior; to install maple floor and to build a new front. The building is owned by the Spurgeon Realty company.

Pedro Chavez, 28, Buena Park, was arrested by Special Deputy Sheriff Kepplinger at 3:30 a. m. yesterday in a Buena Park cafe, and brought to the jail for drunkenness by Deputies G. F. McKey and James Musick.

Guy Privett, 24, Santa Ana, was booked for drunkenness at 11:30 p. m. Saturday by Deputy Sheriff George Graupensperger. He was later released after posting $25 cash bail.

Billy Gordon, 49, Los Angeles, was brought to the jail Saturday afternoon by Chief George Gelzer of Huntington Beach to start serving a 10-day sentence for intoxication.

NOT MAY CO. EMPLOYEE

Dick Martin, recently convicted in the Fullerton justice court on a charge of violation of the oil and gas substitution act, was no longer an employee of the May Oil company at the time of the filing of the charges, it was learned today from Ed Eisner, director of the oil company.

He was released on his own case, which was set for August recognition pending trial of the 14 at 9 a. m., without a jury.

The charge grew out of an accident July 31 near Garden Grove, where Ernest Umphenour, 14, riding his bicycle, was struck and killed by the Ralston car, driven by the pastor's son. The coroner's jury, at the inquest, fixed no responsibility.

CLAIMS FRAUD IN PROPERTY SALE AT BEACH

Claiming that she was in poor health, with bad vision, and unable to attend to her business affairs properly when she signed, unwillingly, a deed conveying her property at Balboa to Dorothy C. Harrington, Mrs. Emily L. Jarvis, 62, Boston widow, today filed suit in Superior court against Dorothy Harrington and her father, Fred C. Harrington, to have the deed cancelled and the property re-

CAMPERS HELD AS CLOUDBURST TAKES OUT CANYON ROAD

A cloudburst in the mountains in Mill canyon above Forest Home Saturday caused considerable confusion at Camp Oseola and delayed the return trip of 75 boys by nearly a day, it was learned today from Y. M. C. A. officials.

A group of 80 boys was coming down the mountain road Saturday morning when a section of the highway was completely washed away by a torrent. They were forced to return to camp and did not get over the damaged road until Sunday.

She thought that she was signing papers as part of an arrangement to secure a $1500 first mortgage loan on the property, when she signed the deed and a purchase price agreement with Fred Harrington, in Hollywood, she alleges.

Before the highway was washed out, a group of 75 boys coming up to the camp made the trip in safety. Temporary eating and sleeping accommodations were made to care for both groups of campers Saturday night.

Shipment of Valencia oranges for the month of July through the associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Exchange amounted to 1099 carloads, 86 cars of which were sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant and 1013 cars were moved to export and domestic markets. This makes a total of 2923 cars of Valencias moved to August 1. The estimate of this variety remaining to go as of August 1, including all Orange County Fruit exchange associations, is 4389 cars of tree crop, which compares with 3462 actual shipments of last year.

Lemon shipments for the month of July amounted to 183 cars, which makes the total shipments to date of this variety 653 carloads. The market on California lemons continues strong even in spite of generally cooler weather conditions.

The Valencia market has continued to hold steady, although the volume of sales during the last week were heavier than in any week with three exceptions, since August 3, 1929. Clarence Stiles, manager, said today "With the continuous firm price level, the outside small markets have been purchasing fruit with confidence, thus giving us the maximum of sales volume and a wide distribution.

The earlier maturity of deciduous fruits as compared with other years, and also the extreme high temperatures that have prevailed in most of the eastern states, has resulted in the shipment of a heavier percentage of the crop of these varieties during the late weeks of June and the month of July than was shipped during the same period last year. We believe we have passed the peak of competition from deciduous fruit, and while considerable quantities of every feature of the Empire plan and frankly answers every question, it is said. Much speculation has been indulged in by his audience as to which of the southern universities he belongs and why it has been necessary for him to speak for Upton Sinclair, under an incognito, according to Sinclair supporters.

The stabilization of values for the season to date is certainly a demonstration of what can be accomplished by all growers working together in solving their common marketing problems, and should give all growers increased confidence in the California-Arizona committee, which is doing a very fine job in pro ration of shipments in order that volume of crop movement shall not at any time exceed the market demand and yet all markets be fully supplied."

Salome Gomez, jailed for as sault with a deadly weapon, was released Saturday when no complaint was filed against him. There are 85 seminaries of the Latter Day Saints' Church in five western states.

Two pairs of breeches, valued at $33, were stolen from the automobile of E. P. Mallot, Garden Grove, while it was parked on Birch street Saturday, he reported to police.

1099 CARS OF MANY FEATURES IN NEW STUDEBAKER

The many automatic features pioneered by Studebaker to make these cars "think for themselves" are found on the new "year-ahead" models. They include free-wheeling, automatic starting, automatic choke, automatic fast idle carburetor, automatic spark and others which make the driver's job much easier.

With the introduction of the new Studebakers, late in June, the safety of power brakes became available to motorists who purchase in the low price group of cars. All new "year-ahead" Studebakers have bodies of steel, reinforced by steel.

Prices on Studebaker's new models set new "lows" for the vehicles offered. F. O. B. factory prices for the Dictator group of models are below $700. Commander models have a base f. o. b. price less than $900, and the President models start at less than $1175 f. o. b. factory.

The new cars are being shown at the Headley Motors company, Second and Sycamore streets.

Court Notes

Claiming that her husband associated with other women, and that once when she found him with another woman he became angered and choked her, Mrs. Ramona Chaddick of Anaheim, has filed suit in superior court for a divorce from Jack Chaddick, alias man. The couple married at Anaheim August 26, 1926, and separated January 19, this year.

Charles Cushing, charged with drunkenness, posted a $25 bond Saturday to secure his release from the county jail and will be tried before Judge Kenneth Morrison on Thursday at 10 a. m.

Charged with drunkenness, Richard Hansen had $10 of a $25 fine suspended and was released from the county jail Saturday by Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange.

Lenox Hammond was given a 10-day suspended sentence for drunkenness when he appeared before Judge Charles Kuchel of Anaheim Saturday.

GO AHEAD, FOR TRUE PROGRESS

PRESENT SOCIAL SYSTEM IS CALLED "HAYWIRE" BY YOUNG SPEAKERS AT UNION SERVICE

The present day social system, as youth sees it, is "haywire," and the youth of today constitute a "surplus generation" in the words of two young speakers who addressed the union church service Sunday evening in Evangelical church.

Charles Warmer and Robert L. Eakin were the speakers, discussing "The Message of Jesus About Social Questions."

"My task is to show you how these social principles can be put to work in this present day society of ours," said Warmer, beginning his sermon.

"In these days of forward movements within the church and without (and who of us is reactionary enough not to desire the forward march) in individual life, church and nation, in matters spiritual and otherwise? there needs to be a backward movement that a forward movement may result," said the Rev. Kelly. "There is need that we go back to the Bible as the word of God; go back to Jesus as the very Son of God; back to the cross as the one way of deliverance from sin; and back to God as our one refuge and strength in these distraught times."

Continuing, he said: "We are not unaware of the destructive criticism aimed at the Book. It is not new. It is as old as the book itself. But let us go back to the Bible as the infallible and only rule of faith and practice and as the supreme authority in spiritual matters."

For we have reason enough to believe that the Bible is the Word of God, given to us by inspiration of God, the men who were its penmen 'breathed' of the Holy Spirit so that they enunciated the truth God sought to give in His revelation to men."

"May I submit in proof of such divine inspiration of such a unique book, its immortality, its authority, its continuing popularity, its doctrine, its own assertions, its unity, its power, and its sufficiency as a rule of faith and practice and as a supreme authority in spiritual things. Let us 'back to the Book,' to its warnings, its promises, and to its instructions. Let us read it, study it, and practice it."

"We listen to Jesus Himself and He ever affirms His deity. We summon Peter and John and Paul and others and they hear like testimony. We go back to the Early Church. We find that those ardent followers of Christ loved Him; they gave their hearts to Him; they trusted His power to the limit; they hazarded their lives for His sake; they went everywhere telling others about Him; they became transformed men and

"No, we would have a world family. Yes, if we used good will we would not have to build such battleships as the California, but we could build ten miles of schools like the Julia Lathrop, which would educate and thereby cause construction, not destruction. The money spent in war time machines could be used to feed the hungry and educate the poor."

"Yes, if we had practiced that principle of good will, we would not have to look for old blood to run the world, and we would not have to have undoubtedly the cleverest and keenest minded people of the world governed by dopes and morons."

"Then again, wouldn't it be better to have cooperation and not competition. For in competition we have the economic system of capitalism which has lifted us out of the economics of scarcity into the economics of abundance. But now that we have no frontier and overflowing warehouses of food, while children and workmen cry for it. We see this economic system of capitalism is not the economic system we should be living under if we profess ourselves to be Christian people."

"No, system that gambles with the basic economic essentials of land and raw materials, and distorts genuine markets through selling of harmful goods, and allows men to cut their own brother's throats for a job, and makes a class of people that have money to throw away, and who live in such luxury that so they can not be themselves in haywire, when there are people and young children starving in the street for want of food."

Yes, Christian youth wants co-women, mastered men and women, impassioned men and women, separated from the world, of the "lighted mind" and the undiscouraged hope. And the record is clear enough. They believed without question or doubt in His deity. Let us be done with our quibblings and our questioning and our doubts and go back to Jesus accepting Him as God incarnate.

"Since the days of Cain there have been many other ways offered. The ethnic faiths, a mechanistic philosophy, materialistic evolution, the gladiatorial theory of sin's origin, mortality—these and other panaceas for sin have been offered and tried. Some would deal with the fact of sin. Some would have us believe that there is no sin with which to deal.

"But there is but one way of deliverance. The Book is given of God to point that way. The Old testament gives its pages to tell of that one way. The new testament completes the story of that same one way. 'Behold the Lamb of God that beareth away the sin of the world.' Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins! It's the cross, that one way.

"What can wash away my sin? Nothing but the blood of Jesus."

John Bunyan was right. Pilgrim carried the burden of his sin until he came in sight of the cross. Only the cross satisfies the reason. Only the cross is vindicated in human experience. Let us go back to the cross and stay there.

"That was the message of the ancient prophets. In time of famine and drought and injustice and crime and oppression of the laborer and the poor; in a day of self-dependence and disaster present or impending the prophet was urging 'Return unto the Lord, and He will heal and help and restore. Repent and trust Him and all will be well.'

"Colonel Lawrence of Arabia has told of a conversation with some Arabs on the subject of astronomy and how it ended. A wise old Sheik after hearing the western scholars recount the wonders revealed by the telescope said: 'You foreigners see a million stars and nothing beyond. We Arabs see only a few stars, and God.'

"A writer in the Expositor has given this title to an article, 'As If There Were a God.' Is it not high time that our government govern as if there were a God? Is that not how a church should be conducted, and the individual life lived? 'Back to God'—the claimant need of this hour is written in that phase.

ordinarily close Reichstag sessions.

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press) NEUDECK, East Prussia, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Field Marshal-President Paul von Hindenburg's body passed its last day above the grave, awaiting, at his Neudeck chateau, its burial tomorrow at Tannenberg, where 20 years ago he won one of the greatest victories of the World War.

The funeral will be one fitting a man mourned by millions who served his country with distinction in peace and war.

Hindenburg lay today in a coffin in his study, clad in the white mantle of the Johanniter Order of Medieval Knighthood, his long knight's sword beside him.

Tonight there will be a brief, absolutely private service for members of the family, close friends and Neudeck servants.

Then at midnight the coffin will be taken outside by officers flanked by standard-bearers with the colors of the 2nd, 9th and 16th Reichswehr regiments and of the 3rd guard regiment and the 91st and 147th regiments of the old imperial army with which Hindenburg served.

Outside, two battalions of infantry, two squadrons of cavalry, an artillery battery and infantry and cavalry bands will be drawn up.

As the procession starts, huge fires will be lighted at each of the eight towers on the Tannenberg memorial, 50 miles away. They will be kept burning for two weeks, attended by 96 firemen working in shifts.

Along the route, villagers have strung across the road garlands of pine boughs, draped with crepe.

The procession will halt for two minutes at the field marshal's knoll near the village of Froegenau, where in August, 1914, Hindenburg directed in the field the battle of Tannenberg against a supposedly unbeatable Russian army. This was arranged as a last reunion of the field marshal with his comrades who died on the field of battle.

The grave has been prepared under the field marshal's tower of the monument.

Before it will be a catafalque upon which the coffin will be placed, and a platform from which Chancellor Adolf Hitler will pronounce the eulogy. In front of the catafalque is a high cross, which will be flanked by flags of 50 regiments of the old imperial army.

As the body is lowered into its grave, the chamber of the field marshal's tower will be strown with dahlias. On succeeding days, red roses will be strown on it. The chamber is to be remodeled into a chapel.

WITHHOLD DECISION ON VON PAPEN

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—(UP)—A decision on whether to accept Franz Von Papen as special German minister to Austria may be deferred for a week or ten days, it was intimated officially today.

Reports from Paris that Austria would appeal to the League of Nations were discounted here.

HAPSBURGS' RETURN TO THRONE FAVORED

ROME, Aug. 6.—(UP)—Fear Austria's new government may prove weak has stimulated sentiment greatly in favor of the return of the Hapsburgs to the throne as an alternative to Austrian-German union, it was learned authoritatively today.

In event of an open effort to enthrone young Archduke Otto, now head of the Hapsburg house, there would occur a division between advocates and opponents which well might mark the enemies in the next European war, it was said.

"You and tonight can hear the war drums beating in Europe where soldiers are being massed at every frontier, munitions are being manufactured in feverish haste, while men in every country are preparing for either the next revolution or the next war."

"Christ was born into a world that yearned for the coming of the kingdom of God, a reign of righteousness, justice and mercy that was to be ushered in with the arrival of a Messiah. But there were

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallon

The first thing Hitler did after Von Hindenburg died was to make the army swear obedience to him. Our officials exchanged knowing glances when they read that.

It has been an open secret in diplomatic circles for a long time that a strong crowd of army generals was and still is secretly opposed to Hitler. These generals worshipped Von Hindenburg, who kept them in the Nazi line. Many of them were associates and friends of General Von Schleicher, who now lies murdered by Nazis bullets.

It is easy to suspect they had some mental reservations when Hitler extracted the personal oath from them. • • •

REVOLUTION

These generals are the only hope of the Hitler opposition. Hitler could have been legally removed by Von Hindenburg, but now there is no one to remove him. The only way he can be trapped is by revolt, and the only ones who could conduct a first class revolution against him are the generals and their army.

The elections are, of course, farces. You can imagine how many Hitler opponents will dare to risk their necks by going to the polls. Also, the vote-counting is done by the Nazis.

How long it will take the army to get a revolution started is a matter for conjecture. Hitler's power is beginning to wane. Continuous economic hardships of the people, the loss of domestic prestige by his bloody murder purge and foreign isolation of Germany are weakening his popularity. Yet there is no question here but that he still maintains a strong hold on a large mass of people.

Our officials privately believe he will continue to hold on until conditions become worse or a new leader arises. • • •

WARNING

The AAA is about to crack down on a few outstanding violators of the AAA marketing agreements. They expect to do it by legal action and not by words, as other crackers-down have done.

Some actions already are in the process of preparations. Before the end of the summer it is proposed to hale certain large companies into the courts.

The AAAers appear to have no fear about the legality of their program or its constitutionality, else they would avoid the courts.

DODGING

The way the NRA has been dodging court tests is a subject of snickering comment wherever lawyers gather. The Greif case in Baltimore brought that out not long ago. The judge became angry because government lawyers argued technical questions of jurisdiction to keep the case from going to trial. • • •

THAT is probably smart strategy. In that case, the judge restrained local NRA authorities from further steps against the manufacturer, but that did not stop NRA officials in Washington. They immediately forbade the code authority to sell any more Blue Eagle labels to the company.

The company thumbed its nose by saying it had enough labels to last through September. There you are.

Whether these labels are valid has not been decided. But buyers will probably prefer to trade with firms whose Blue Eagles have unsullied reputations. That is where the NRA has a double toe-hold on a violator without regard for the courts.

It is not only illegal to sell a garment without an NRA label, but also a violation of the retail code to buy an unlabeled garment. • • •

DIPLOMACY

The marketing agreement for the big tobacco companies recently went up in a cloud of cigar smoke. The companies and the AAA could not even smoke together peacefully around the same table.

Thereby hangs a tale concerning Mr. Roosevelt's diplomacy in effecting last year's tobacco agreement. It has only recently come to light.

The tobacco boys finally drew up an agreement at that time after stormy sessions with AAA officials. There was only one wrinkle in it to be smoothed out. Agriculture Secretary Wallace insisted the agreement include a statement that "nothing in this can be construed to deprive the secretary of agriculture of any of his powers under the agricultural adjustment act." The tobacco boys would not agree to that.

When the agreement went to the White House, they went with it. They demanded that the President take the clause out of the agreement before he signed it.

Mr. Roosevelt picked up his pen. With a twinkle in his eye, he scratched out the Wallace clause. Tobaccoconists were delighted. Then the president signed the agreement as follows:

"Approved, Franklin D. Roosevelt, with the understanding, of course, that as a matter of law, nothing in this agreement can deprive the secretary of agriculture of any of his powers under the agricultural adjustment act."

NEW YORK

By James McMullan

RIDDLE—
New York still hopes that business will go places and do things this fall. But the informed are not cherishing dream castles of a spectacular kind to come. They see new boulders blocking the path that won't be easy to get over.

A careful checkup has pretty well dispelled the drought bogey but another and more solid obstacle has replaced it in financial calculations. That's the loss of purchasing power due to strikes.

Experts estimate the shrinkage to shutdowns at $350,000,000 so far in 1934. This sum represents direct loss only. Several times that sum is tied up indirectly because fear of further labor troubles has frozen business spending. And when business doesn't buy individual pocketbooks suffer also.

Conservatives call section 7a the villain of the piece. Analysis by a New York figure shows that 71 per cent of this year's strikes originated in disputes about what it means. 22 per cent were straight wage arguments and 7 per cent came from miscellaneous causes. Wall street claims that's a high price to pay for a benefit that even labor finds ambiguous.

There's no evidence yet that the end is in sight. Most New York authorities privately believe that the strike epidemic has just begun—and their Washington scouts report that the Labor Department has the same opinion. They insist that FDR must find a definite answer quick to the 7a riddle or NRA will destroy more purchasing power than it has created. • • •

MARTYRS

You'd be surprised how many financial insiders are more disturbed by the anti-red campaign than they were by the "red menace." They fear that vigilante zeal and the determination of many industrialists to purge their factorries of "communist influence" are found to victimize a number of legitimate labor leaders with a resultant backfire that might be very costly to the conservative cause.

The best posted New Yorkers aren't seeing red at all. They realize there are communists in labor ranks. But they are convinced this element is negligible and will remain so—unless business leaders themselves raise red recruits by making martyrs. • • •

The New York City administration's measures to combat radicalism draw caustic fire from high conservative sources. First the city suggested that legitimate labor heads be registered and fingerprinted by the police. The theory was that this would protect them from police molestation in case of trouble—with the further inference that any striker without police credentials might just as well expect to meet up with a nightstick.

That didn't go so well with the unions. The idea was officially abandoned but it left a bitter taste in labor mouths which won't help any if there are flare-ups.

Then Police Commissioner O'Ryan created a special Rifle Regiment to replace the old Riot Squad and is giving the group intensive military training. Keen observers call it "provocative preparedness." If the object was to awe potential demonstrators, they believe it will work in reverse.

A leading banker remarks: "If O'Ryan wants to stir up 'civil commotion' he has certainly picked the right way to do it."

FOSTERED

The New York grapevine intimates that Federation of Labor officials are none too cordial towards the Recovery Administration. This was that this would protect them from police molestation in case of trouble—with the further inference that any striker without police credentials might just as well expect to meet up with a nightstick.

ANNA STOLPE, R. ROCKHART OF SANTA ANA WED

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—Choosing the lovely gardens surrounding the home of her uncle, J. D. Zinke, in Glendale as the setting, Miss Anna Stolpe, 405 South Main street, daughter of Mrs. E. Stolpe, of Glendale, was married to Roland Lockhart, of Santa Ana, Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the presence of a group of close friends and relatives.

Against a background of greenery and pom-pom dahlias with light provided by tall tapers set in candelabras, the impressive single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Stanley Roberts.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, J. D. Zinke, was attractive in a white sports ensemble, with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of gardenias, lilies of the valley and violets.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the Zinke home. Table appointments were particularly lovely, strewning a bridal motif, with an elaborately decorated wedding cake centering the table.

Guests at the wedding supper other than the bride and bridegroom were Mrs. E. Stolpe, the Rev. Mr. Roberts, Miss Zeida Zietter, Miss Jeanne Grandy, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bement, Hugh Beament, J. D. Zinke and Joe Zinke.

Following the supper, the young couple left for a short honeymoon, after which they will make their home at 405 South Main street, Orange.

The new Mrs. Lockhart, a graduate of the Alva Union High school of Oklahoma, where she was president of the school student body in 1924. Besides taking an active role in the school's activities, she was voted the most popular student. She is a graduate of the Oklahoma university school of nurses and a member of the Guild of St. Barnabas, an international organization for nurses.

Mrs. Lockhart, who has lived in Santa Ana for more than 10 years, is connected with the sales department of the B. J. MacMullen automobile agency in Santa Ana.

CONTESTS

There's no rest for the weary. Jim Farley, having achieved a triumph in Dooling's choice as Tammany boss—is now faced by a revolt in the ranks of the erstwhile Recovery Party. There were two kinds of Recoverites—professional politicians like Flynn of the Bronx and Democrats who thought the Recovery movement offered the best chance of purging the New York City Democracy of bosses. It's also reported that Lehman is fed up with backstage sniping from within his own party.

The wise take the story with salt. They point out that it looks remarkably like the old build-up for "the office seeks the man"—which would greatly strengthen Lehman's candidacy if it gets across. They add that if Farley is aiming for the White House in 1940 his political sense must tell him he'd better wait for the governorship until '36.

SIDE LIGHTS

U. S. Steel's proud second quarter of record of getting back to the black isn't as cheering as it sounds...it was largely due to advance orders usually placed in the third quarter but moved up because of strike and price worries—which won't help the third quarter any.... Sears Roebuck may resume its dividend before the end of the year.... Savings banks in 18 states have over 131.2 million deposits—an all-time high.

Approved, Franklin D. Roosevelt, with the understanding, of course, that as a matter of law, nothing in this agreement can deprive the secretary of agriculture of any of his powers under the agricultural adjustment act."

Unless Fred Perry turns professional, the Davis Cup is quite likely to remain in England long enough to round out a ten-year stay on the other side.

A seventh American expedition failed, with Sidney B. Wood and Frank Shields unable to score in even one singles scrap.

And when the time comes for the British to pass the trophy along, Germany, and not the United States, may be the recipient.

Indeed, the Teutons, who have made rapid strides in tennis, might have been the challengers this year had not Nazi trouble cost them the services of Daniel Prenn, almost as good as the 24-year-old Baron Gottfried von Cramm, whom William T. Tilden rates next to Perry among the amateurs.

In taking two sets before wrenching his side, Wood demonstrated that he had it in him to repel Perry. We'll better break in the luck, the once precocious darling of the Seabright courts may click in 1935, but the other singles player must be developed. He may eventually be found among Gene Mako of Los Angeles, the inter-collegiate champion; E. Ramey Donovan, a contribution from Fordham; or Franklin Parker, the 18-year-old Lawrenceville student.

HOW ABOUT GRANT?

Shields and Lester Stoefen are too hopelessly handicapped. They can't beat Perry's and "Bunny" Austin on sheer flight alone.

While I dislike to second guess anybody, we Bryan Grant probably would have been a better selection than Shields.

It might be well for the American Davis Cup committee to take into consideration how a player's game fits that of the British stars.

For example, Shields likely would blast Grant off the court in an elimination, yet the Atlanta player's game is much more adapted to that of Austin, the stylist, than that of the towering chap who carried the Yankee standards.

Since the European learned the art of taking a terrific service, their conquerors have had to have flawless command of the ball. Shields can't beat their best with wild rushes to the net. Shields is mechanical—stilted and cramped.

He is a one or two stroke player, with a weak backhand and faulty ground strokes.

PERRY QUIT CLOWNING

Grant, on the other hand, has an all-court game. Against Austin, the man the Americans stood the best chance of defeating, "Bitus" could have been relied upon to stick in there, and get the ball back. And that is what it takes to trim Austin, who is none too strong and who fades as a stiff battle rolls on. Shields defeated him by carrying him to a fifth set in the Wimbledon tournament.

His victories over Jack Crawford plainly gave Perry the impetus required to make him the world's foremost amateur. At the outset this kangaroo-like athlete was a bit of a buffoon. For some time before he struck his true stride, it was said that he practically would be invincible if he would get his mind on his game. He seemed to suffer from an inferiority complex.

I doubt that Perry could turn back Tilden, Johnston, Cochet or LaCoste at their peak.

But Great Britain and amateur tennis need not apologize for their top-ranking player. He has remarkable speed, a fine variety of strokes, and is capable in every square inch of the court.

Going 11 innings to cop the first game, Santa Anita split a double-header with the Los Angeles Colored Giants here Sunday afternoon. The Giants, defeated in the extra-inning curtain-raiser, 4-3, came back in the afterpiece and won the Westside nine, 15-4.

Villa's double and Benny's single broke up the first contest, a brilliant pitcher's battle between Al Mathews' and the Mathews-Young combination of the Giants. Santa Anita got off to a two-run lead in the first, gave up the lead in the eighth only to tie it in its half on Koral's double and Villa's single.

The second game, however, was decided in early innings. The Giants found Shepherd easy, rolling up five runs in the first inning, three more in the second.

Kenneth Harring, 21, Los Angeles; Dick Randolph, 19, Los Angeles; and George Hall, 29, Long Beach, were charged with being drunk late Saturday night, and posted $20 bail each.

BEACH SINGERS AT COSTA MESA CHURCH

COSTA MESA, Aug. 6.—A male quartet from the choir of the First Baptist church of Huntington Beach, Stuart Price, Joseph Perry, James Ranney and Robert Holsington, was featured on the evening program at the local Four-square church. The opening number was "On the King's Highway," followed by "The River of Life," and "Only Jesus." Mrs. Ranney accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Ranney also sang as a solo "Abide With Me," accompanied by Mrs. G. G. Smalley.

Other musical numbers on the program were a song by the girls' sextette of the church, Helen Bradbury, Vera Jean Bradbury, Thelma Kessl, Yvonne Bullock, June Gray and Tessie Anderson. The spelling Song." They were accompanied by Mrs. Smalley, G. G. Smalley and O. Tyner gave several guitar and harmonica duet selections, and the church choir sang "Hear the Tramp, Tramp, Tramping of the Army."

Miss Thelma Bradbury, pastor, spoke on the theme, "The Unknown Soldier." Miss Bradbury announced that the Angels Temple choir from Los Angeles will appear in a musical program here next Friday evening. She also announced that the sermon topic for next Sunday evening will be "The Last Roundup."

REPORTS PRESENTED AS COUNCIL MEETS

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 6.—Monthly reports from the various departments were read at the regular city council meeting Friday night. Councilman David McKinney reported receipt of a donation for providing highway signs to draw attention to the beach, fishing facilities and pier. These are being made by City Engineer Ayer and will be placed at conspicuous points on the highway when completed.

The crowds on the beach and fishing boats and piers have been larger this year than ever before, it was reported. The golf course is in excellent condition and $219,50 was reported for July. Five miles of streets were cleaned and graded during the past month. City Engineer Ayer asked the council to decide on the use of the $800 gas tax money received from the state. State restriction requires this money be used on the curbs of the highway. It was decided to put a curb along the front of the state park, the park frontage extending 1700 feet. Ayer was instructed to go ahead with the project, using local labor.

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Three persons were rescued from the surf yesterday as approximately 50,000 thronged the resort. Two sisters, Winona Murray, 18, and Margaret Murray, 19, of 828 Hickory, Pasadena, were rescued by Life Guard Orville Henstead in the surf opposite Fifteenth street when they got beyond their depth. Shortly afterward, Jim Hunt, 19, of 1043 Sunset, Los Angeles, got into difficulties at the same spot and was carried out of the water by Henstead.

DANZ HONORED AT RECEPTION BY L. B. ARTISTS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—Members of the Laguna Art colony turned out en masse yesterday afternoon for the reception tendered Louis Danz, retiring president of the Laguna Beach Art association, and Mrs. Danz, held at the art gallery on Cliff drive. In addition to members of the art colony, the event was attended by a large number of art patrons, including a fair sprinkling of Hollywood and Pasadena people.

Mrs. Maud Robertson, treasurer of the association, presided over the program arranged for the occasion, assisted by Mrs. T. Spencer Miller, Mrs. Eleanor Colburn, Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany and Mrs. Roy Ropp. Outstanding features of the program were the vocal selections offered by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Worthy of Huntington Beach, the former a baritone and the latter a coloratura soprano of considerable note. Well received by the audience were several numbers from well-known operas. They were accompanied by Mrs. Marian Miller, concert pianist of Huntington Beach. Other pleasing numbers on the program were the offerings of John Hart Stout, 12-year-old violinist of Orange, and Olive Schweitzer, 12-year-old pianist.

In connection with the reception tendered him, it was learned that Mr. Danz has decided not to seek another term for the presidency of the association, and will decline nomination should his name be submitted from the floor at the annual meeting set for August 13. Business matters connected with the publication of his new book, requiring a trip to the east, were the reasons given.

As the guests assembled at the church they were ushered to their seats by Monteau Hippolite, Dora Ashlock, Winona Zumwalt, Twila Collins, Velta Colley and Violet McCamish.

The honored guests entered the church with their bridal party and stood in front of the altar where they were congratulated by the guests present. In the bridal party were Lottie Mae Jordan, the Rev. T. C. Jordan, Mae Ruth Jordan and Mrs. Thomas Foster and daughter, Carolyn, and the honorees.

A musical program was provided for the entertainment of the guests, which included a piano solo by Margaret Thornton, who also played the processional for the bridal party; a reading, "Mrs. Bray's Wedding," by Lottie Mae Jordan; vocal solo, "Because," by Mrs. W. A. Merryman, accompanied by Margaret Thornton; three Scotch solos by Dwight Goodwin, of Fullerton, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. William Fleiss.

The recessional march was played by Margaret Thornton, as the bridal party and guests adjourned to the banquet rooms of the church for refreshments.

1199 BOOKS RESTED

LA HABRA, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Anna Garrettson, local librarian, reports that during the month of July, 1199 books of fiction were loaned out, 100 non-fiction, 459 juvenile books and 111 periodicals. This makes an average daily loan of 74, as compared with the month of June, when the average loan was 71.

Adult cards issued during the month totalled 10, and juvenile cards issued were 6, making a total of new patrons, 16.

L. A. MAN ELECTED PASTOR OF BREA CHRISTIAN CHURCH

BREA, Aug. 6.—Members of the Christian church, following the services on Sunday morning, when the Rev. Frank L. Stipp preached, voted to accept that minister's application to become pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Stipp has done extensive work as a missionary, having spent 10 years in the Philippines Islands in that capacity. For the past several years he has been located in Los Angeles, where he has been doing special missionary work with the Filipinos.

The new pastor will begin his duties at once, and expects to have his family settled in the parsonage within the next 10 days. His family consists of his wife, a son, 13, and a daughter, 16. The pastorate has been vacant since June 15, when the Rev. Wesley Runyan resigned to take up special evangelical work in Nevada.

MONK IN TALK ON BUDDHISM AT CLUB MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—Attracting much attention and causing considerable comment throughout the community today was a big poster, located near the post office on Laguna avenue announcing a mass meeting of the Utopian Society here, to be held this evening at the Little Arts theater on Thalia street. According to the announcement, the meeting is limited to members having attended one or more meetings. It also was added that important information would be given out.

Utopian Society To Meet Tonight In Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—Pointing to Capt. Don Wilkie, former United States Secret Service expert and world authority on crime, as the one outstanding and exceptional candidate in the race for the office of sheriff of Orange county, and urging all citizens to cast their ballots for him in the coming primary, the Rev. Raymond L. Brahm, pastor of the Community Presbyterian church of this city, placed himself squarely behind Captain Wilkie's candidacy in a brief address before a group of representative Laguna Beach citizens late last week.

"We, the people of Orange county, are seeking a man for the office of sheriff who has some knowledge of the task he must undertake," the Rev. Mr. Brahm said. "Never before have we had such an opportunity as we have at this time to elect such a man. I wonder if we have ever had such an experienced and so thoroughly qualified a man in the sheriff's office. In my judgment, Captain Wilkie is the best. He knows the problems of the sheriff's office and he knows how to handle them. He has the knowledge and he knows how to apply that knowledge."

In explaining his stand in favor of Captain Wilkie's candidacy, the pastor made reference to the candidate's experience and 30-year record in law enforcement service. "You simply can't get away from his background," the pastor said. "Captain Wilkie's father and grandfather devoted a greater part of their lives to law enforcement." The minister had in mind Captain Wilkie's father, John E. Wilkie, who for 16 years was chief of the United States Secret Service.

Two Small Girls Hurt In Collision At Newport Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Two small girls were injured Sunday afternoon when cars driven by Mrs. Hazel Poelyn Lewis of 2856 Garden View, South Gate, and Charles Carillo, 27, of 423 West Milpas, Santa Barbara, collided on the Coast highway near Newport.

According to police reports, the car driven by Mrs. Lewis, mother of the two girls, Evelyn Hazel and Glen Ellen, aged 9 and 11, respectively, stopped suddenly, and was run into from the rear by the other car. The girls, not injured seriously, were given first aid treatment at the Newport Beach hospital.

HONOR COUPLE MOVE AGAINST WAR CITED BY BREA PASTOR

BREA, Aug. 6.—Taking for his address, "We Move in New Directions" and for his text a part of the Lord's prayer, "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, in earth as it is in heaven," the Rev. Donald Gaylord, in his Sunday morning sermon at the Congregational church, depicted ways in which the church can further the bringing in of God's kingdom on earth.

The Rev. Mr. Gaylord related the action taken recently by the general council of Congregational-Christian churches in convention at Oberlin, O., in creating a council for social action, he declared, evidence of which is the growing number of publications dealing with the history of that faith.

"Buddhism is no longer a queer, strange cult to the intellectual classes of the world. On the contrary, its teachings are being more and more understood and appreciated by independent thinkers, of which the president of the Buddhist Association of America is a member.

DEFENDANTS IN GAMBLING CASE WIN FREEDOM

Deliberating only 30 minutes, a jury in the Seal Beach Justice court returned not guilty verdicts Saturday on gambling and lottery charges filed against 13 persons arrested by sheriff's officers in Ballard's Chip Parlor in Seal Beach.

The trial lasted two days and was marked by the challenging of 18 prospective jurors by the attorneys and the necessity of securing a special jury panel.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner and deputy sheriffs contended that the chip game was a game of chance, constituted gambling, and that the chips could be exchanged for cash.

The trial was the first of three scheduled for Ballard's Chip Parlor. The 13 men tried Saturday were arrested on the first raid by sheriff's officers. Another group was arrested the next day and seven more the next day, but the third raid was on felonies charges of conspiracy to evade the gambling laws. The preliminary hearing on this charge is set for August 21 in the Santa Ana justice court.

The jury hearing the case Saturday included Lila V. Dornberg, Adam Sherrill, William H. Taylor, Donald Steen, William A. Lewis, A. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Murray Kennedy, Robert Warren, Mrs. Inez Hardesty, Cora P. Hetherington, Mrs. Alberta Knighton and Walter Helwick.

Four defendants arrested in Larry's Tango parlor were on trial before a jury Friday on similar charges. The jury disagreed and was dismissed by Judge Smith. A continuance has been set until August 14, when a new trial date will be set.

CREEL CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

A meeting at Creel for Governor headquarters, 311 North Main street at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, was announced today by Horace Head, chairman of the Orange county Creel for Governor Club.

John Kissel, veteran Democratic campaigner and former newspaper man, will speak on "George Creel - New Note of Courage, Idealism and Leadership." Kissel is well known throughout the state, in the organization of Democratic clubs.

This gathering is open to the public and all Democrats interested in precinct work in the cause of George Creel should make it a point to be there," it was said by C. Harold Dale, secretary of the Orange county Creel organization.

RENOVIZE JOB FOR DOCTOR COMPLETED

Completion of remodeling of the old Galloway home at Seventh and Bush streets, opposite the post office, into a modern physician's office building, for Dr. W. P. Baker, was announced today.

W. W. Keyes of the Santa Ana Lumber company, architect, has preserved the original colonial lines in the exterior of the building. William Rohrbacher was the general contractor and the Blanding Nurseries provided the landscaping. Miss Edith Hynes of Los Angeles has been supervising the interior decoration.

The offices are built and equipped into modern surgical, laboratory and x-ray departments. This is said to be one of the first buildings in the city to be completely remodeled under the local renovize campaign.

SEES EGG FRIED ON MANHOLE COVER

E. W. Smith, 1104 French street, father of Assistant Postmaster Blake Smith, has just returned from a trip to Hiawatha, Kansas, where he had the unique experience of seeing an egg fried on a man-hole cover.

The day the egg was fried on the man-hole cover was July 20, said to be the hottest day the section had seen since 1913. The day was so hot that the egg, when broken on the cover, sizzled merrily for a time until witnesses said the egg was really fried.

STRONG MAN TO GIVE PARTY

STEVE CLARK PLANS STUNTS ON BIRTHDAY

Celebrating his 72nd birthday, Steven A. Clark, Santa Ana's strong man, will give a demonstration of his strength in a series of exhibition events at his home, 515 North Artesia street, tomorrow night, it was announced today.

It is an annual event for Clark to hold open house to any who care to attend his unique birthday party. During the evening he will perform many of his stunts, and will show pictures of others.

In announcing the annual event, Clark issued a challenge to any man of his age in the United States to duplicate his numerous stunts, which include lifting heavy weights, acting on the bars, kicking, wrestling, sparring and lifting dumbbells in friendly contests and other stunts. He said his opponents may choose whatever contest they wish to engage in.

"I am not bragging about my strength," Clark said, "but I will try, as long as I can, to show young boys that it pays to live a clean life."

The Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, will give a short talk during the evening's program.

CITY P.T.A. COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

Officers of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers today urged all parents and teachers to keep in mind the school of instruction which will be held at the Willard school auditorium tomorrow from 9 a.m. until noon.

Two state officers are scheduled to be present to help local chairmen conduct their respective conferences. A luncheon honoring state and district guests will be held at the Doris Kathryn Tea rooms. Reservations for the luncheon must be made with Mrs. George Ames.

WOMAN GIVES RING AS GAS PAYMENT

A worthless ring given in exchange for eight gallons of gasoline is the basis of a search by police for a woman who visited the L. C. Slack service station at Seventeenth and Flower streets yesterday afternoon.

After the woman had the gasoline tank of her car filled, she handed Slack a ring as a deposit for the $1.24 of gasoline and then sped away without further instructions, Slack said.

Brother of Santa Ana Woman Dies

Alonzo Richardson, 83, brother of Mrs. N. S. Mullis, 824 Riverine avenue, Santa Ana, died at his home in Long Beach, it was learned today. He lived at 689 Olive street, Long Beach. He and his sister were reunited here 14 years ago after they had not seen each other for 42 years. He also leaves two nieces, Mrs. Louise Latham and Mrs. J. L. Standister, both of Santa Ana.

AFTER you receive the tobacco from the farmers you have to dry it just right and then store it away for ageing for over two years.

Then you take the different types of home-grown and Turkish tobaccos and weld them together in such a way as to make a balanced blend.

The Chesterfield process of blending and cross-blending tobaccos is different from others, and we believe it helps to make a milder and better tasting cigarette.

Down where they grow tobacco — in most places — Chesterfield is the largest selling cigarette.

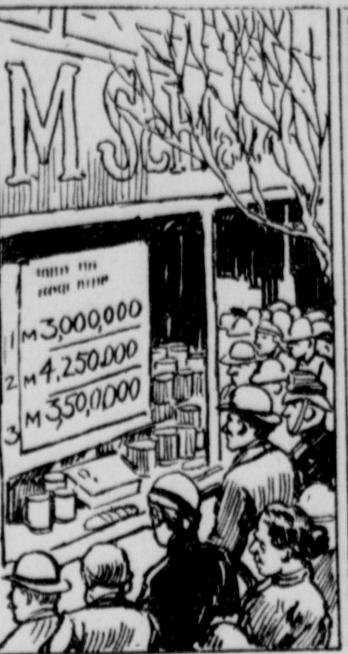

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1934

PAGES NINE TO FOURTEEN

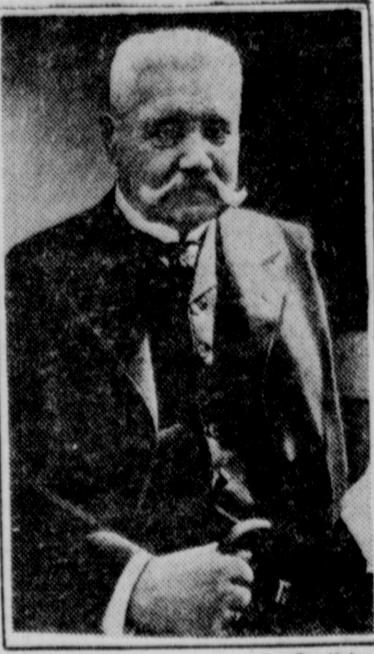

Empire, Republic, Dictatorship for Germany — Monarchy Now?

When the Kaiser fled, Germany staggered through three months of confusion. Then a constitution much like our own was adopted at Weimar in 1919, and Friederich Ebert, former harnessmaker and life-long Socialist, was chosen president. Hope followed Wilson's words: "We are glad to fight for the liberation of the peoples of the world—the German people included."

But the young republic had to suppress bloody counter-revolution by both Communists and Monarchs; it had a terrible burden of war reparations; it was badly divided. A series of political assassinations followed, including liberal leaders Walter Rathenau and Matthias Erzberger, and Communist leaders Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg.

The republican government, "in the middle" between growing factions of Communists and Royalists and Nationalists, could not cope with the financial situation. Brüning, in two years' gallant effort, could not get necessary tax and reform laws through a Reichstag split among seven or more parties. Hindenburg dissolved the Reichstag, but Nazis and Nationals deserted its successor.

Franz von Papen, Junker, was then named chancellor, but he could not get a workable Reichstag majority and was succeeded by Von Schleicher, who lasted just 57 days. At least nine parties divided the Reichstag. Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler, stressing the international degradation and internal misery of Germany, continued to gather followers.

Hindenburg, re-elected, was forced to yield to Hitler when the latter polled 44 percent of the vote, far more than any other party. He named Hitler chancellor. Hitler's National Socialists, backed by their semi-military "storm troops" in brown shirts, then began a militant and aggressive campaign to restore Germany to its former "place in the sun."

Continued failure to bring about better conditions at home or abroad, together with another impending financial crisis, brought dissatisfaction in the ranks of the storm troops. To avert an open revolt, Hitler engineered his recent "coup," executing many leaders whose loyalty was in question. But the future remains uncertain.

OLD NEWSPAPERS RECALL
EARLY HAPPENINGS IN S. A.

OLD NEWSPAPERS of Santa Ana always bring back fond recollections and tales of "I remember when . . ." so it was with a great deal of interest that Register staff members have been inspecting old-time newspapers brought to the newsroom following the publication of a news story last week about a paper printed in 1899.

E. F. Marks, 1124 North Bristol, brought in the oldest paper, a copy of the Pacific Weekly Blade, printed on October 25, 1888, even before Orange county was separated from Los Angeles. Mrs. G. P. Hill of Hemet, resident in this city from 1886 to 1922, had a valuable bundle of old papers and souvenir magazine editions while Mrs. W. L. Duggan, 222 South Sycamore, displayed several old journals.

Marks has lived in Santa Ana for 47 years, one more year than the paper was old. His father, F. A. Marks, preserved the old publication, which includes many reprints from the Daily Blade being printed at that time. The paper was larger in size than present day issues and contained only very small one-line headlines.

A long article on the front page tells of efforts to eradicate scale on orange trees while another concerns the conviction of six walnut thieves and their incarceration in the county jail at Los Angeles for 10 days. Personals, funny stories, verses, professional cards and political advertisements were among items included in the paper.

Among the local advertisers in the paper were S. H. Finley, engineer; I. B. Williams, clothier; First National bank; Frazier and Ellis, realtors; Nurse's Book store; A. L. Pellegrin Music store; Commercial bank; H. F. Stanford, surveyor; Abbott and Leonard, dry goods; Talott and Smith, grocers; H. C. Flidier, druggist; John R. Paul, undertaker; Dr. M. S. Jones; McElvey and Matthews, attorneys; and W. R. Edwards, druggist.

World Fair Edition

Perhaps the most interesting journal exhibited by Mrs. Hill was the World's Fair edition of the Daily and Weekly Blade, issued on June 1, 1893. It is nearly a column wider than the newspaper of today, measures 27 by 20 inches and has 16 pages. Virtually the entire front page is occupied with a map of Orange county, history of California and description of Orange county, written in glowing terms.

Extensive articles include those on Newport, The Horse, Our Mission, Agriculture, Churches, Vegetables, Historic Yorba, Westminster, Fruits, Busy Bees, Water Supply, Orange County Exhibit at World Fair, Santa Ana, Hewes Ranch, San Joaquin, and Olinda Ranch.

According to a table in the paper, the 1890 census gave Santa Ana a population of 3705, Anaheim, 1819 and Orange, 1269. The total assessed valuation was $10,060,190 and in 1899, there were 307 carloads of oranges shipped, with

FARM CREDIT FIVE PROJECTS

GROWER AID BY STATE SERA

Following a personal conference with W. L. Myers, governor of the farm credit administration, of Washington, D. C., Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg, who is representing Orange county at the Western Regional conference of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Reno, Nev., informed The Register today in a letter that Governor Myers indicated a sincere willingness to adjust loans to citrus growers here on the earning capacity of citrus properties.

Governor Myers, Farm Adviser Wahlberg said in his letter, is awaiting the final report and recommendations to be embodied in the special report which Dr. Elliott Colt, citrus specialist, now has nearly completed, before taking action to increase the loan ration on farm properties in this county.

Dr. Colt was appointed to make a survey of the situation in Orange county after The Register, aided by other groups and individuals, had launched a program to effect a more equitable basis for loans on citrus properties here.

While Farm Adviser Wahlberg is the only representative from Orange county at the conference, there are 30 representatives from California at the meeting. Other states represented include, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Colorado, Montana, Oregon and Washington.

The conference this year is concerned with problems of farm credits, legislation, organization and drought relief. National figures, aside from many other prominent agricultural men, who spoke at the conference included Governor Myers, Chester E. Davis, administrator of the AAA at Washington, D. C.; E. A. O'Neill, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Willard D. Ellis, general agent for the farm credit administration at Berkeley; C. J. Carey, chief of the division of market enforcement, Los Angeles, and others.

Two magazine editions of Santa Ana papers were noteworthy. One was the souvenir number of the Orange County Herald, printed in January, 1897 and a special number of the Santa Ana Blade, printed in November, 1905. Each contained many pictures of county buildings, churches, schools, prominent homes and leading citizens, with accompanying articles. As in all the old papers, the advertisements were mostly of establishments now defunct, although a few are still in business.

The most striking feature in Mrs. Hill's Orange County Herald of August 29, 1901 is a column "Looking Backward" which tells of events of 1880. A few items gleaned here and there include building of the Southern Pacific railroad to Santa Ana from San Diego . . . discontinuance of the post office at Palos Verdes in Orange county . . . W. H. Spurgeon, pioneer merchant, puts a column ad in the Herald . . . Shows Early Sketch county. While not all of the projects approved will be completed, the large selection makes it possible to find work for all classes of skilled and unskilled labor and to distribute the projects fairly among the various political subdivisions which sponsor them, Mulherron pointed out.

One of the projects just approved was for the construction of a rock wall around the San Juan Capistrano school buildings. This project would give work to 21 men and would cost a total of $7,980, of which the SERA would pay $5,034 and the sponsor $2,946.

Another project approved was for the painting of the Santa Ana city library. This would give employment to two men. The total cost of $738.31 would be paid out in $416 of SERA labor and $320 as Santa Ana's cost.

A project to extend a fire alarm system in Santa Ana schools which would give five men work was approved. The total cost of this project is $1,084, of which the SERA would pay $704 and the sponsor $380.

The largest project approved of the five was one submitted by the Orange Union High school district, to erect a stadium and bleachers at a total cost of $38,085. Of the total, the SERA is to pay $23,868 and the sponsor $14,217. Thirty men would be given work under the project.

DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOU

NEW GOODRICH SILVERTOWN, THE ONLY TIRE
GREAT CAUSE OF BLOW-OUTS AT HIGH SPEEDS

—Gives months of extra tire mileage free!

WHEN would you land if you had a blow-out? What would happen to you and your family? You might come out of it safe and sound. But isn't life too sweet to take chances? Especially when, year after year, thousands of people are being killed or injured when blow-outs throw cars out of control.

What causes blow-outs

Today, due to high-powered motors and whirlwind revolutions of small, modern wheels, the heat generated inside the tire is terrific. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows—until BANG! A blow-out!

THIS GUARANTEED TIRE
MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

Don't worry! When you buy a Goodrich Safety Silvertown, your money is safe. Because every Goodrich Silvertown passenger car tire is guaranteed for a period of 12 months (business use, 6 months for personal use). It protects against accidental damage due to cuts, bruises, blow-outs, rim cuts, faulty brakes, wheels out of alignment and ordinary wear and tear.

But what is far more important when you buy a Goodrich Silvertown, you may be saving your life. Every Silvertown has the amazing Golden Ply invention that protects you from high-speed blow-outs. Don't gamble when human lives are at stake. Get a set of Goodrich Silvertowns now and play safe. With each tire, you'll get the Goodrich guarantee which protects your tire investment. Remember, too, that you are getting the only tire in the world with the life-saving Golden Ply invention.

Milk Calcium Wonderful for

LOUIS L. SHERMAN, M. D.

Everyone knows the value of calcium for nerves. Scientists have long known that milk calcium is superior to ordinary calcium, but it is organic and "fits the system." Cow's milk whey in its entirety—except the water. Therefore it contains concentrated milk calcium. Special announcements will be made over KNX tomorrow and Wednesday, 9 to 9:30 a. m. by a well-known physician; and Louis L. Sherman, M. D., will speak over KNX on Thursday and Friday (August 9 and 10) at the same hour. Dr. Sherman will also give illustrated lectures, in Long Beach on Thursday afternoon and in Los Angeles on Friday afternoon. Subject: Colitis, Nerves, Arthritis, and Intestinal Toxemia. Admission free by ticket only, or this notice in the Santa Ana Register.

Grandchildren Arrive
For Visit En Route
To New York

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Donaldson, 401 East Fifth street, had the happy experience this past week of entertaining three of their grandchildren, Miss Barbara Koons and her twin brother and sister, Donaldson and Margaret Koons, children of the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Koons, of Seoul, Korea.

The young people left Seoul for Yokohama on July 8, and visited their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Gompertz in the latter city where Mr. Gompertz is head of one of the big oil companies. From Yokohama they sailed on the President Lincoln, expecting to reach San Francisco. But because of strike conditions they came directly to Los Angeles harbor where they were met by their grandparents.

After a visit here, the three young people sailed again for New York via Panama Canal, and will visit in Sand Lake, N. Y., with the Rev. and Mrs. John Underwood Stephens, their uncle and aunt. The Rev. Mr. Stephens is pastor of Sand Lake First Presbyterian church. Miss Barbara Koons, who has been doing radio work in her native Seoul, will continue piano studies and teaching in Sand Lake. Her sister and brother will enter Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio, for the year's course. They were members of this year's graduation class from high school in Seoul.

All the children were born in Seoul, where their mother, formerly Miss Floy Donaldson, went out in 1905 to marry the Rev. Mr. Koons. Mr. Koons has been head of the John D. Wells School for Boys for the past 20 years.

Legion Auxiliary

Program features for Friday night's meeting of American Legion auxiliary in Veterans' hall, included the playlet "How It Happened" presented by Miss Vivian Rogers and Gene Olson of the Junior Community Players, directed by Miss June Arnold.

At the business session which followed nominations were made for new auxiliary officers. Mrs. Ruth Jellis received the nomination for president; Alma Hoover, first vice president; Georgia Farren and Alice Dodders, second vice president; Kay Rasmussen, secretary; Gretchen Kellogg, treasurer; Stanza Penn, chaplain; Marian Matthews, historian; Alma Meairs, sergeant-at-arms; Roberta Mercer, marshal; Mary Adriana musician.

Board members nominated were Margaret Hill, Julia Magill, Ann Leimer and Mabel Casteel, while those named as county council delegates were Alma Meairs, Alma Hoover, Julia Magill, Faye Minnick, Blanche Roopie, Ann Leimer, Mary Crissman, Fannie Reeves and Marian Matthews.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening with Mrs. Minnick as chairman of the committee.

Private Duty Nurses Plan September Beach Party

Receiving members of the Private Duty section of Orange County Nurses' association in her home, 1141 South Ross street, Miss Mabel Reid, registrar, entertained Friday night at the August session of the group.

Miss Helen Anderson, division chairman, conducted the business session during which matters relating to the nursing profession were discussed. Plans were made also for the September meeting which will be a beach party with time and place to be announced later.

At the conclusion of the business discussion, the assembled nurses enjoyed a social hour during which Miss Reid served refreshments.

Present in addition to the hostess were the Misses Helen Anderson, Loretta Kelly, Betty Swanson, Mesdames Carrie McClurkin, Eva Roeland, Helen Noe, Hazel Paul and Rose Jackson, Santa Ana; the Misses Stella Hicks, Emma Steeve, Mesdames Ramona Nelson, Violet Niehaus and Nora Barnett, Fullerton, and Miss Leona Wunderlich, Orange.

Baked Fruit Dumplings

1 full quart baking fruit sauce sweetened nicely

Mix together:

8 tbsps. sugar

3/4 cup sweet milk

1 scant cup sifted flour

1 level tsp. baking powder

1/4 tsp. salt.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Shave the butter into the flour and mix with finger tips, as for biscuits. Mix to biscuit consistency with the milk (more may be needed). Have the fruit sauce, which might be red plums, fresh peaches, apricots, etc., in a baking dish.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Reliable Ice Box Rolls

1 cup mashed potato

1-3 cup sugar

3-4 cup shortening

1 tsp salt

2 eggs, well beaten

1 cup scalded milk

1 cake yeast, dissolved in

1-4 cup tepid water

4 cups bread flour.

This recipe came to me from a farm housewife in Montana. Apparently she is enjoying the comforts of a new mechanical refrigerator.

add mashed potato and cream again, then the well beaten eggs.

Gradually add the scalded milk, beating as it is worked in. When this mixing is finished, whip in the dissolved yeast and work in the flour. Turn the dough into the moulding board and quickly knead it into compact form, put it in a large oiled bowl, cover with a towel and let it rise until very light. Cut down with a knife, take what you want for a pan of rolls, cover the bowl and put in the refrigerator until rolls are wanted again. Shape from the chilled dough and leave at room temperature, covered lightly with towel, until the rolls are light. This takes all of 3 hours as a rule.

The roll recipe has a total of 4145 calories. Usually such a recipe makes four dozen small rolls. This would make the single roll worth approximately 99 calories.

Bread, honored as "the staff of life," is just that. It has almost as much protein as lean meats. It has energy foods in quantity, and it has the right amount of fat. But that doesn't mean that you can consume a dozen hot rolls at a sitting and not have to pay with a bulge around the waist line.

Tuesday: An Orange Sponge Cake will be the recipe demonstrated.

THE TINYMIES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN - PICTURES BY KING

The Tinies ate till they were melons. They'll soon be all gone. The Tinies watched the whole bunch eat. Then Copy跳上了 his feet and said, "Don't eat too much, lads, or you all will sleep till dawn."

Said Goldy, "You're a careless lad. The way you're eating's just too bad. You might, at least, be careful of your big ears, goodness knows!"

This made the other Tinies smile, and then, in just a little while weee Scouty shouted, "Heaven sakes, we've made a sad mistake. 'While we've been having all this fun, the Cheerful Chaps have eaten none of these fine watermelons. Now, their share they all must take."

A Chap then said, "Gee, I began to fret. I am a hungry man. Just watch how we can eat the

"Hey! Just a minute. Stand right here until we give you all a cheer," said friendly little Copy. "You've been soldiers, brave and bold."

"The war we had was lots of fun for all of us. We're glad you won." Then all the Tinies cheered and through the air their voices rolled.

The Cheerful Chaps then cheered right back. "No spirit do you Tinies lack," said one of them. "We hope that we'll all meet again some day."

"I am the captain of this crew, and now, I bid good-by to you. As soon as we're formed into line, we're on our merry way."

NEW PLAN TO PLAYLET PROGRAM GUARD COUNTY TIME IS CHANGED WILL BE TOLD

A new and ingenious plan of guarding Orange county as a great treasure vault without added cost will be explained over KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock by Captain Don Wilkie, world authority on crime and crime detection and this county's non-political candidate for sheriff.

The former United States Secret Service man who has spent 30 years as a law enforcement officer and is a recognized specialist on criminal matters, has devised a unique method of county protection that will make it practically impossible for a criminal to escape from the county or to enter its boundaries. In less than five minutes every main road entering Orange county would be closed under Captain Wilkie's plan of bottling up the territory against criminals.

The non-political candidate will explain how the flash protection can be accomplished without additional cost to the sheriff's office. He will, if elected, use a part of the funds charged by the present sheriff's administration to gasoline, oil and livery to the establishment and maintenance of sheriff's sub-stations located at strategic points in the county to furnish full coverage and to have sheriffs deputies on hand in every section of the county when needed. This added and necessary protection can be furnished without increasing expenditures one dollar. Captain Wilkie will explain.

In Captain Wilkie's next broadcast over KREG on Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, he will explain methods he will use, if elected, to cut costs of the sheriff's office and at the same time increase its efficiency by the application of wide knowledge in law enforcement and a pledge to develop Orange county's sheriff's office into a model of perfection and economy. Captain Wilkie is heard as a special feature over KREG each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 o'clock.

THE POT CALLS THE KETTLE BLACK

The committee of congress which is uncovering the activities of the Silver Shirts, and their secret auxiliary, called the "Storm Troopers," seem to be doing a fairly thorough job. Incidentally, it would appear this job needs to be done.

It appears that this organization was incorporated by William Pelley, who has been carrying on in Asheville, N. C., this secret organization, a printing plant and a paper known as "Liberation." The only people who could become members of it were CHRISTIAN Americans. Confining itself to Christian Americans, it was also alleged to be "anti-Communistic."

It unquestionably is an organization aimed to arouse race hatred and to gain strength by appealing to the sentiment which all people have for the constitution and the government.

It is rather interesting to note how many organizations that have some other purpose, which they cannot defend, and which is decidedly un-American, attempt to cover up their subversive part by joining in the general hullabaloo against the Communists.

There they know they will encounter no opposition, and each one tries to do it more vociferously than the other, so that the folks who are urged that the "hobgoblins" will get them to think that they are the greatest defenders of all.

Apropos of this general propaganda, it is quite interesting to note a paragraph or so in the Whirligig today, that says that the financial interests of New York are beginning to worry more over this "anti-red menace" propaganda than they ever did over the "red menace."

Then it says: "The best posted New Yorkers aren't seeing red at all. They realize there are communists in labor ranks. They are convinced this element is negligible and will remain so—unless business leaders themselves raise red recruits by making martyrs."

When the big financial interests of New York begin to find that arousing an hysteria against one group, in order to injure another, is beginning to seriously back-fire, so they want it stopped, it will soon be stopped, for that is where it started, and they keep it going, though a great many who are carrying it on do not realize it.

So the uncovering by this committee of how all these forces are working to build up a machine for dictatorship, anti-Jewish in its essence, is accomplishing a great deal of collateral value, besides the direct opposition.

The greatest argument that can be used against any group that believes in violence and force, or the overthrow of government, is the argument which they themselves bring forth to propagate it. In a nation with a free ballot, living under a constitution whereby laws can be enacted to correct every evil, there is no place for such propaganda to appeal to the great masses of intelligent people, and it isn't doing it.

It is only making martyrs through false propaganda that their numbers are increased. Stop that and it will die. Even the reactionaries in New York are beginning to see it.

REACHING A STABLE POPULATION

In the decades preceding the World war, the population of our country grew by leaps and bounds. The birth date still continued fairly high.

The countries of Europe were pouring their surplus populations through our ports of entry. The cotton industry, the steel industry, and the coal industry made large demands for raw labor.

In the West a large population of self-sufficient farmers was growing up. Machinery had not yet come in to do away with practically all manual labor.

Thousands were employed digging trenches in cities. Other thousands were employed in the building of new railroads. Still other thousands of migratory workers moved from one labor region to another.

All this has changed. The turning of a switch or a lever sets a machine in motion that does the work of 50 or 100 men.

We have a surplus of manpower increasingly difficult to absorb. There is nothing to indicate that the population of the next 50 years will increase to any large extent.

Those best informed on the possibilities of the future are certain that the next 25 years will see little need for further expansion in any direction. Those familiar with large cities have seen miles of streets laid out in new allotments which will not be needed for years to come.

It is only just dawning upon many that this condition which has existed in European countries for the last 50 years has now reached us. The merchant cannot expect to increase his business each year over the year previous. The use of electricity has great possibilities; but railroads have seen the end of their growth; the automobile is approaching the saturation point.

Depreciation and renewals will continue to call for a large industrialism; but we are reaching the end of new and larger corporations. It will be well if those who have had great dreams of a greater future will sense this chance, and resign and adapt themselves to it. Only so, will the country come to a greater stability.

THE GAY NINETIES FINDS A FRIEND

In the August Harpers, Henry Seidel Canby takes up a brief for the much-burlesqued period known as the "gay nineties."

It is a series of recollections from memories rather than a citation of documents. We believe he is right in saying that the life of the nineties was quite as normal as most periods of the country's history.

The fact that styles of dress were markedly different from those of today, that life was simpler in its outward reaches, and that the period had a flavor all its own, is simply to say what may be said of any other period of our history.

To those who lived in those supposedly peculiar times, there was nothing fantastic or unusual about them. The inner lives and aspirations of men and women were not so different from the 1930s.

Outward conditions change with the passing years, but men and women are ever the same. The springs of human thought and action flow from the same sources, and one who gets beneath the surface will find considerable uniformity in men's actions.

The real is always the near. The strange and the romantic are always far away.

There is no question that the thirties of this era fifty years hence will seem strange to those living then. Only as memory brings back the scenes and the spirit of earlier days do we discover that one age differs from another only in its outward manifestations.

If differences there be, they are those set against the background of conditions that differ.

The reading of the series of articles written by Mr. Canby will bring back to those who lived in the nineties a picture of life very normal and quite as satisfying as when life was being lived in that period.

And perhaps the present generation will find less to joke about and smile about when it is led into the actualities of that period which has been too much burlesqued by fanciful writers and romancers.

ONE OFFICE WITHOUT A CONTEST

It is rather a relief, in looking over the various offices, to come across those in which either there is no contest or so little that there is practically no discussion.

This is the situation with the office of state controller, with Ray L. Riley incumbent.

Mr. Riley is a man who has grown in public opinion ever since he entered public life. He probably is as well equipped for his office as any man is for any office which he seeks in this state.

He is a hard worker, knows the state's finances, and is constantly striving to find a way out of every financial difficulty which the state confronts. While unquestionably faults can be found with any specific plan, it should be noted that in these difficulties Mr. Riley has a plan, and the plan works.

While under our state law a man must seek this office as a partisan regardless of partisanship, Mr. Riley would undoubtedly be the choice of a vast majority of the citizens, removing entirely the necessity of a party label.

During such a period of stress and trial as the one through which we are passing, outstanding men of ability should be kept in public office wherever they have shown a continued response to the spirit of democracy. Mr. Riley is that kind of a man. Those who know him best are loudest in his praise.

We bespeak for him the approval of the voters of all parties.

MAGIC AND VERSE

Christian Science Monitor

The celebrations which England is preparing in honor of the centenary of Samuel Taylor Coleridge are neither overelaborate nor undeserved. The fame of Coleridge as critic and philosopher may not today shine as brightly as once it did, but it is becoming increasingly recognized that as a poet he introduced into the treasure house of English literature a unique gift.

When Coleridge first began to write toward the end of the eighteenth century, bringing out with his friend Wordsworth that famous volume of "Lyrical Ballads," a copy of the first edition of which has recently fetched a very high price in a London auction room, the literature of England already, of course, provided a more than goodly heritage. It was a heritage to which in some respects Coleridge himself could hope to add little.

He had not the rich Elizabethan perception of the magnificence of the world nor the deep spiritual convictions of Milton, nor the inexhaustible eloquence of the Renaissance.

But he touched a note that no English writer had ever touched in quite the same way before. The repositories of English literature may be searched in vain, earlier than the publication of "Lyrical Ballads" for any poem that has the supreme enchantment, the very hint of words not realized, which is heard in "The Ancient Mariner."

And now twas like all instruments, Now like a lonely flute: And now it was an angel's song,

That makes the heaven's mute.

Some judges, including no less eminent an authority than Prof. Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, go so far as to say that not only did no writer in the English language strike that peculiar note of magic before Coleridge, but that no one has been able to capture it since. Others might perhaps detect at least echoes of it in Keats and in Matthew Arnold's "Tristram and Isolde," while it twinkled faintly on the other side of the Atlantic in some of the cadences of Edgar Allan Poe. But in any case, Britain and the world are right to honor the unrivaled magician, the Merlin of English poetry.

Those best informed on the possibilities of the future are certain that the next 25 years will see little need for further expansion in any direction. Those familiar with large cities have seen miles of streets laid out in new allotments which will not be needed for years to come.

THOSE SKIRTS AGAIN

San Francisco Chronicle

The Associated Press cables from Paris that some of the early window displays show longer skirts. However, the real dictators have not yet spoken, so the decree from which there is no appeal has not yet been promulgated. Personal liberty may still flourish in the interim.

But whether long or short or status quo, the social and economic implications will be widespread. Not only milady is interested, but the whole marvelous network, from the Australian shepherd to the ultimate consumer. A single decree of fashion could insure recovery.

The rise and fall of the skirt has taken its place with the rise and fall of empires. In "Only Yesterday," one of the popular reviews of the recent past, the author includes the length of the skirt in his summaries of the outstanding events of the periods reviewed—along with the downfall of kingdoms, revolutions, the world series, presidential elections and all the parade of banner headlines.

Thoughts On Modern Life

POLITICS AND THE NEW ECONOMICS

A few weeks ago I suggested that if the vast masses of Americans could be convinced that greater happiness can be found by shutting down on scientific progress throwing the brakes on technological advance, declining to use to the full the vast resources of modern power, and deliberately reducing the scale of American enterprise to smaller and more easily manageable size, well and good, if that is what they want.

I ventured the suggestion that this is not what they want, that they hunger instead for the utmost that this age of science, technology and power production is amply equipped to bring them in comfort, convenience and liberation of spirit.

The fact that this hunger today has access to political power at a time when the production of abundance is so plainly apparent gives it a significance it might not have if this hunger were voteless and these vast mechanisms of science, technology and power production had never been invented.

Our Children

CHILD WISDOM

Just how soon does a child discover the human weakness in those in authority over him? It depends upon the intelligence of the child, the conditions under which he lives with his elders in school and at home. The less weakness he encounters in his leaders the longer he believes them infallible. The longer he finds them all-wise the longer he trusts their judgment.

But the day comes when the child learns that this person to whom he looks for guidance and knowledge can and does make mistakes. For the first time he doubts the authority of his guardian.

What is one to do? Accept the truth of the child's position. His teacher or parent or friend has made a mistake. What of it? It is to be amended as far as possible and taken as a matter of course. The child will adjust himself to that attitude without much difficulty. The difficulty comes when the adult tries to deny his mistake and to pose as an oracle. That won't do.

Children respect truth and they know it when they meet it. If the teacher say frankly, "I don't know," and offers whatever belief or faith he has in place of a declaration of wisdom the child's trust is strengthened. If his father or mother says, "I'm sorry I made such a mistake but I didn't understand," the child's trust is increased and his affection deepened. He knows he can depend upon what his parents say and do because they are honest about all things concerning him.

There is a difference in being honest and in being indifferent to children's difficulties. When a child brings you a problem that means taking a bit of trouble, going out of your way to solve, and you say, "Oh, I don't know. Settle it yourself." I'm not the fountain of wisdom," you are not being honest, you are merely lazy. You are shrinking. The child knows this and your leadership is in doubt from that day forward.

Children know a great deal more about us than we like to think. When they are very young, just beginning to trot about the house, while their eyes are still big with the wonder of creation, they begin to know us, to see us as we are. They soon learn to speak at opportune times and to be silent diplomatically. They soon know which member of the family is most approachable, which most
